Course Description

This course is an introduction to architecture as an artistic and scientific endeavour as well as an examination of its purpose and intentions, its processes, and its products. Students will develop an understanding of the social, cultural, historical, technological, economic, and natural context influencing the design of buildings and other objects.

Course Objectives

At the end of the course, students will be able to:

- Outline the things that architects and others do to produce buildings. By extension, they will be able to tell what architecture students learn to do.
 - Summarize and discuss current issues in architecture and design, based on class lectures, public events, and/or news sources.
 - Describe (orally, textually, graphically) and interpret key aesthetic, social, technological, and other characteristics of buildings in Calgary.
 - Represent graphically and analyze a space familiar to them (e.g., their home or apartment).
 - Explore ways to adapt or modify that same space.

Teaching Approach

The course is lecture-based, delivered by the course instructors and guest lecturers. There is also tutorial time each week to facilitate class discussion, and provide feedback in the preparation of student deliverables.

Means of Evaluation

During the semester, each student will produce two short papers (typically 2-3 pages), participate in section/group discussions, give one short presentation in their discussion group, produce one measured drawing, one annotated graphic analysis, and one elementary design project. There will be no midterm or final exams.

The papers will be responses to the current subject matter in the course (lectures, discussions, public events), and are designed so that students can explore the language and issues of architecture and design. The short presentation will be a description and interpretation of a Calgary building in relation to topics covered in the course. The measured drawing will be of a portion of the space they consider their home, while the annotated graphic analysis and the final design assignment will apply ideas from the course to the modification of that same home space. There will also be in-class writing, group discussion, and other assignments, especially in the discussion groups, all of which will be reflected in the portion of the grade for participation. We will give out more detailed handouts and talk about the papers in class before they are due.

Course Deliverables

A0	10%	Participation (attendance, discussion, in-class assignments, and group work)
A1	10%	Response Paper One
A2	10%	Measured Drawing of a Home Space
A3	20%	Building Analysis Presentation
A4	10%	Response Paper Two

Grading Scale

Grade	Grade Point	Percent Range	Description
A+	4.0	95-100	Outstanding – evaluated by instructor
A	4.0	90-94.99	Excellent – superior performance showing comprehensive understanding of the subject matter
A-	3.7	85-89.99
B+	3.3	80-84.99
B	3.0	75-79.99	Good – clearly above average performance with knowledge of subject matter generally complete.
B-	2.7	70-74.99
C+	2.3	65-69.99
C	2.0	60-64.99	Satisfactory – basic understanding of the subject matter.
C-	1.7	55-59.99	Receipt of a grade point average of 1.70 may not be sufficient for promotion or graduation. (See individual undergraduate faculty regulations.)
D+	1.3	50-54.99
D	1.0	45-49.99	Minimal pass – marginal performance; generally insufficient preparation for subsequent courses in the same subject.
F	0.0	0-44.99	Fail – unsatisfactory performance or failure to meet course requirements.

Course Expectations

Students are expected to:

- Attend, prepare for, and participate in discussion groups.
- Complete daily readings by the time of the appropriate class meeting each week.
- Hand in assignments on time; late assignments will be docked a half letter grade (i.e. B+ to B) per day.
- Plan their own off-campus trips to suit their schedules. This course will require the attendance of events and the exploration of buildings off campus outside of scheduled class time.
- Try first to resolve issues with their discussion group TA before bringing them to the attention of the professors.

Resolving Issues

To notify the instructors of an issue impacting your ability to complete coursework on time, or to request an extension, please send an e-mail to your discussion group TA. Submission of a form does not guarantee an extension. Instructors and TAs commit to responding to e-mail within two week days; please plan accordingly. Include the following information in your e-mail:

- Your full name & student number.
- A brief explanation of the issue.
- Your proposed solution to the issue (i.e. if requesting an extension, suggest a suitable replacement deadline).

Academic Honesty

Plagiarism involves submitting or presenting work in a course as if it were the student's own work done expressly for that particular course when, in fact, it is not. Most commonly plagiarism exists when:(a) the work submitted or presented was done, in whole or in part, by an individual other than the one submitting or presenting the work (this includes having another impersonate the student or otherwise substituting the work of another for one's own in an examination or test),(b) parts of the work are taken from another source without reference to the original author,(c) the whole work (e.g., an essay) is copied from another source, and/or,(d) a student submits or presents work in one course which has also been submitted in another course(although it may be completely original with that student) without the knowledge of or prior agreement of the instructor involved. While it is recognized that scholarly work often involves reference to the ideas, data and conclusions of other scholars, intellectual honesty requires that such references be explicitly and clearly noted. Plagiarism is an extremely serious academic offence. It is recognized that clause (d) does not prevent a graduate student incorporating work previously done by him or her in a thesis. Any suspicion of plagiarism will be reported to the Dean, and dealt with as per the regulations in the University of Calgary Graduate Calendar.
