Course Description

A general survey of how various communication systems and practices developed through history, and of the social contexts within which they emerged, transformed, and adapted through time. Within this framework, the course examines major technological developments in the history of human communication and uses theory to understand their origins and impacts on social organization and everyday life.

Additional Information

Lab periods are not optional, nor are they intended simply for students who need extra help of some kind. They are integral to the course and afford an opportunity to engage in discussion in a smaller setting than is possible in a large lecture. Your participation grade will be largely determined by your participation in brief, generally ungraded assignments completed and handed in during lab periods. Please respect your teaching assistant and fellow students by coming to labs prepared and having done required readings.

Objectives of the Course

Marshall McLuhan believed that, unless we understand the innate properties of media and how they affect not only our way of living but our way of thinking, we are powerless to resist their influence. This course surveys the history of communication as it evolved from orality through various modes of technologized media, including writing, printing and electronic media, in order to contextualize the relationship between technology and the social world.

Internet and electronic communication device information

Laptops are permitted for note taking only. Please respect the lecturer, teaching assistants and your fellow students by not using computers for other purposes during classes or tutorials. iPods, cellphones and gaming devices must be off during class. If you are expecting an emergency call, please let me know at the beginning of the class.

Textbooks and Readings:

Crowley, David & Paul Heyer, eds. (2007) Communication in History, 5th Edition
Ong, Walter. (1982) Orality and Literacy
Book of readings – available in bookstore

Assignments and Evaluation

Tutorial work – ongoing throughout the term – 10%
Quiz 1 – Oct. 6 (during lab time) - 10 %
Reading reflection assignment – Oct. 25 - 20%
Quiz 2 – Nov. 8 (during lecture time) – 15%
Final quiz – Dec. 1 (during lab time) - 10%
Term paper – Dec. 6 (due in lecture time) - 35%

Tutorial work will consist of brief exercises and responses completed in class. They will not be graded as such but completing them will largely determine your participation grade. Occasional absences with good reason can be forgiven.

The reading reflection assignment will be a brief (1000-1500 word) paper completed at home in which you will choose a reading (either one discussed in class or another from the texts provided), summarize what you think are its most relevant arguments, and reflect on how it can be applied to an understanding of phenomena in modern life.

The term paper will be a longer (2000-2500 word) research assignment in which you will apply the concepts of the course to any communications technology.

It is the student's responsibility to keep a copy of each submitted assignment.

Note: Please hand in your essays directly to your tutor or instructor if possible. If it is not possible to do so, a daytime drop box is available in SS320; a date stamp is provided for your use. A night drop box is also available for after-hours submission. Assignments will be removed the following morning, stamped with the previous day's date, and placed in the instructor's mailbox.

Registrar-scheduled Final Examination: No

Policy for Late Assignments

Assignments submitted after the deadline may be penalized with the loss of a grade (e.g.: A- to B+) for each day late. If you need an extension for urgent reasons, please discuss this with me before the due date.

Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act

This course is conducted in accordance with the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FOIP). As one consequence, students should identify themselves on all written work by placing their name on the front page and their ID number. Also you will be required to provide a piece of picture identification in order to pick up an assignment or look at a final exam from SS320 after classes have ended. For more information see also <http://www.ucalgary.ca/secretariat/privacy>.

Writing Skills Statement

Department policy directs that all written assignments (including, although to a lesser extent, written exam responses) will be assessed at least partly on writing skills. For details see <http://www.comcul.ucalgary.ca/needtoknow>. Writing skills include not only surface correctness (grammar, punctuation, sentence structure, etc) but also general clarity and organization. Research papers must be properly documented.

If you need help with your writing, you may use the Writing Centre. Visit the website for more details: www.efwr.ucalgary.ca

Grading System

The following grading system is used in the Department of Communication and Culture:

(Revised, effective September 2008)

	Grading Scale
A+	96-100
A	90-95.99
A -	85-89.99
B+	80-84.99
B	75-79.99
B-	70-74.99
C+	65-69.99
C	60-64.99
C-	55-59.99
D+	53-54.99
D	50-52.99
F	0-49

Where a grade on a particular assignment is expressed as a letter grade, it will normally be converted to a number using the midpoint of the scale. That is, A- would be converted to 87.5 for calculation purposes. F will be converted to zero.

Plagiarism

Using any source whatsoever without clearly documenting it is a serious academic offense. Consequences include failure on the assignment, failure in the course and possibly suspension or expulsion from the university.

You must document not only direct quotations but also paraphrases and ideas where they appear in your text. A reference list at the end is insufficient by itself. Readers must be able to tell exactly where your words and ideas end and other people's words and ideas begin. This includes assignments submitted in non-traditional formats such as Web pages or visual media, and material taken from such sources.

Please consult your instructor or the Writing Centre (MacEwan Student Centre 4th floor, efwr.ucalgary.ca) if you have any questions regarding how to document sources.

Academic Misconduct

For information on academic misconduct and the consequences thereof please see the current University of Calgary Calendar at the following link;

Students with Disabilities

If you are a student with a disability who may require academic accommodation, it is your responsibility to register with the Disability Resource Centre (220-8237) and discuss your needs with your instructor no later than fourteen (14) days after the start of the course.

Whenever you perform research with human participants (i.e. surveys, interviews, observation) as part of your university studies, you are responsible for following university research ethics guidelines. Your instructor must review and approve of your research plans and supervise your research. For more information about your research ethics responsibilities, see
