   2. Compare and contrast different philosophical approaches to the development of geoscientific knowledge (Deductivism, inductivism, hypothetical-deductivism, falsificationism, etc.)

   3. Analyze historical and current geologic controversies in terms of the philosophical approaches used.

   4. Synthesize a case study focusing on a particular geologic concept as it developed through history. This would include developing teaching activities that mimic historical advancements in the geologic knowledge base.

   5. Evaluate the knowledge development and transfer processes within the context of the course focus involved the student's area of interest

2. Requisites:

3. Grading:

   The University policy on grading and related matters is described in F.1 and F.2 of the online University Calendar. In determining the overall grade in the course the following weights will be used:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Component(s)</th>
<th>Weighting %</th>
<th>Date</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Writings (philosophy) 5 assignments</td>
<td>35%</td>
<td>approx. weekly</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Writings (content knowledge development)</td>
<td>15%</td>
<td>15 April 2020</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Historical case study</td>
<td>50%</td>
<td>15 April 2020</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

   Each of the above components will be given a letter grade using the official university grading system (see section F.1.1). The final grade will be calculated using the grade point equivalents weighted by the percentages given above and then converted to a final letter grade using the official university grade point equivalents.
4. Missed Components Of Term Work:

Students will not participate as subjects or researchers in human studies.

See also Section E.5 of the University Calendar.

11. Reappraisal Of Grades:
A student wishing a reappraisal should first attempt to review the graded work with the Course coordinator/instructor or department offering the course. Students with sufficient academic grounds may request a reappraisal. Non-academic grounds are not relevant for grade reappraisals. Students should be aware that the grade being reappraised may be raised, lowered or remain the same. See Section I.3 of the University Calendar.

a. Term Work: The student should present their rationale as effectively and as fully as possible to the Course coordinator/instructor within ten business days of either being notified about the mark, or of the item's return to the class. If the student is not satisfied with the outcome, the student shall submit the Reappraisal of Graded Term work form to the department in which the course is offered within 2 business days of receiving the decision from the instructor. The Department will arrange for a reappraisal of the work within the next ten business days. The reappraisal will only be considered if the student provides a detailed rationale that outlines where and for what reason an error is suspected.
