COURSE OUTLINE

INSTRUCTOR'S NAME: Dr. Paul Melchin

OFFICE HOURS: Wednesdays 10:00am-11:00am or by appointment (Zoom info on D2L)

E-MAIL: paul.melchin@ucalgary.ca (I will respond to e-mails within 48 hours during weekdays)

DESCRIPTION

In this course, students will learn to recognize categories and the sentence structures they appear in, to analyze sentences, and to identify violations of grammatical norms (i.e. "grammar mistakes") in modern standard English. We will relate the latter to non-standard English and informal registers, as well as briefly to language change and language standardization.

OUTCOMES

Students will acquire traditional grammar terminology as well as terminology and analysis techniques based on current syntactic theory. They will have a good understanding of how English grammar works, and will have increased confidence in writing and speaking. Their knowledge will be applicable in linguistics courses and to the study of other languages besides English.

REQUIRED COURSE MATERIALS

- van Gelderen, Elly. 2010 (second edition). An Introduction to the Grammar of English. Amsterdam: Benjamins.
 - Note that the book is available to purchase in the university bookstore
 - You may consider purchasing the ebook version
- Any additional materials will be posted on D2L

COURSE NOTES

The material for this course will be delivered synchronously over Zoom. Class time will involve both lectures and practice exercises. Lecture slides will be posted prior to each session. Recordings of each lecture will be posted to D2L for students to view asynchronously. Students should not record lectures, either in Zoom or externally. A forum will be provided for each lecture on D2L in order to address questions that arise outside synchronous lectures. While attendance at the synchronous lectures is not required, it is strongly encouraged, especially due to the accelerated nature of courses in the summer intersession.

All assessments will take the form of take-home assignments, distributed and submitted (as .pdf documents) through D2L. Late assignments will be accepted with a penalty of 10% per day, unless there is a valid excuse. None will be accepted after the answers have been discussed in class, one week after the due date.

The University's full technological requirements for online courses (including links to financial support to meet these needs) can be found here: <https://elearn.ucalgary.ca/technology-requirements-for-students/>. The key list of items is reproduced below:

Faculty of Arts

School of Languages, Linguistics, Literatures and Cultures

- A computer with a supported operating system, as well as the latest security, and malware protection updates;
- A current and updated web browser;
- Webcam/Camera (built-in or external);
- Microphone and speaker (built-in or external), or headset with microphone, with ability to record audio;
- Current antivirus and/or firewall software enabled;
- Stable internet connection

For this course, Zoom capability, and all associated secure connectivity, with audio and at least the ability to view video is essential for the synchronous sessions. Stable internet connections will be helpful, though there will be flexibility if your living situation does not make this possible during class time.

Students will be asked to attend lectures with their audio muted and camera off, in order to limit distraction and bandwidth usage. At any point during class time students will have the opportunity to ask questions via the chat function in Zoom; questions asked by the instructor can be answered in the same way.

Course evaluations will be online via D2L.

ASSESSMENT

4 homework assignments (15% each)	60%
1 midterm take-home exam	20%
1 final take-home exam	20%

Homework assignments: There will be four take-home homework assignments throughout the semester. These will involve problem solving and short-answer questions. Each is worth 15% of your final grade. They will be posted to D2L by the end of class on the day given in the schedule. They will be submitted as PDF documents via D2L. Late submissions will be penalized by 10% for each day past the due date, including weekends. They will not be accepted after the answers are discussed in class, one week after the due date. The homework assignments are individual work. You may discuss the work with other students, but you must turn in your own work. Copying another student’s answer is cheating, as is sharing an exact answer with another student. If you worked with someone, please write their name(s) on the assignment. You will be given two days to complete each homework assignment; they will be due on May 12, May 19, June 2, and June 9.

Take-home exams: The midterm and final exam will be take-home assignments. Each will be worth 20% of your mark. The format will be similar to the homework assignments, but will be longer, with more long-answer questions. Due to the nature of the class, they will be cumulative. They will be submitted as PDF documents via D2L. The take-home exams are individual work. You may discuss the work with other students, but you must turn in your own work. Copying another student’s answer is cheating, as is sharing an exact answer with another student. If you worked with someone, please write their name(s) on the assignment. You will be given a week to complete each exam; the midterm will be due on May 26 and the final on June 23.
