Email Policy

In any email correspondence please begin with the course code (anth203) in the subject line along with the subject of your message. Most of the time, you can expect a reply to an email within 24 hours. Please do NOT expect an immediate reply. You should also know that I will only rarely reply to emails on the weekends. Also I will not reply to emails that are not signed at least with your first name.

REQUIRED TEXT:

The Text for this course is a custom text based on Ferraro, Gary. 2010. Cultural Anthropology: An Applied Perspective. (8th Edition), Toronto: Thomson Wadsworth.

It also includes select chapters from Ferraro, Gary. 2008. Classic Readings in Cultural Anthropology. Toronto: Thomson Wadsworth.

COURSE OBJECTIVES:

1. To provide a basic understanding of the concepts, theories, methods and central issues of cultural anthropology that will form the basis for future studies in socio-cultural anthropology and the social sciences in general.
2. To apply anthropological principles, methods, and concepts to engender a critical thinking about Western culture and society.
3. To develop the student's appreciation of social and cultural diversity resulting from the variety of ways people have organised their lives and given meaning to their environment and their experiences.
4. To demonstrate the links between the individual, their social world, and global processes.
5. To develop critical thinking and writing skills through a term paper.

COURSE FORMAT

This course will follow an interactive lecture-discussion style format accompanied by the occasional film or video. Lectures will not repeat or cover all the material in the text but will elaborate on selected topics to provide a deeper understanding of the material. Assigned textbook readings may be augmented with suggested additional readings and handouts.

COURSE CONTENT:

The course takes a comparative approach to the ways people order their lives, and structure and give meaning to their experiences through gender, class, race, ethnicity, kinship, religion, language and so on. It looks at how all human experience, including our own, is embedded within particular historical and cultural processes with a particular focus on the forces of globalization.

ATTENDANCE AND PARTICIPATION

Although attendance and participation are not considered in the grade for this course students are expected to attend all classes and to contribute to class discussions based on the assigned readings and films. Students will be unable to make valuable contributions to discussion, or benefit from the contributions of others, if the readings have not been done beforehand. As you are required to demonstrate a working knowledge of all course materials in exams, grades will suffer if more than two classes are missed. Students are expected to be present for all exams.
