COURSE DESCRIPTION:

The course takes a comparative approach to the ways people order their lives, and structure and give meaning to their experiences through gender, class, race, ethnicity, kinship, religion, language and so on. It looks at how all human experience, including our own, is embedded within particular historical and cultural processes with a particular focus on the forces of globalization.

COURSE FORMAT

This course will follow an interactive lecture-discussion style format accompanied by the occasional film or video. Lectures will not repeat or cover all the material in the text but will elaborate on selected topics to provide a deeper understanding of the material. Assigned textbook readings may be augmented with suggested additional readings.

COURSE OUTCOMES:

By the end of this course, students should be able to:

- 1. demonstrate a basic understanding of the concepts, theories, methods and central issues of cultural anthropology that will form the basis for future studies in socio-cultural anthropology and the social sciences in general.
- 2. apply anthropological principles, methods, and concepts to engender a critical thinking about Western culture and society.
- 3. Demonstrate an appreciation of the social and cultural diversity resulting from the variety of ways people have organised their lives and given meaning to their environment and their experiences.
- 4. demonstrate the links between the individual, their social world, and global processes.

- Questions are answered using your cell phone, laptop, or tablet. Note: there will only be a 1-2 minute window in which to answer the questions.
- ½ a point is allotted for answering the question, and ½ a point for answering it correctly
- At the end of the course the points achieved out of the total possible will be used to calculate a mark out of 10.
- Students can track their progress in THM.
- THM will also be used for other participation and comprehension purposes during the class with no marks attached.

ATTENDANCE

Students are expected to attend all classes and to contribute to class discussions based on the class material, assigned readings and films. Students will be unable to make valuable contributions to discussion, or benefit from the contributions of others, if the readings have not been done beforehand.
