Office hours: Wed 1-3, Th 2-4

This course is designed as a follow-up to the ARKY 341 & 343 sequence which survey the pre-Columbian cultures of Mesoamerica. In The Legacy of Mesoamerica we will consider how the traditional cultures of Mexico and Central America have adapted to post-Conquest contact with Colonial European culture. In some cases indigenous groups have acculturated and in the process lost many of their cultural traits; in other cases they have resisted change, or simply changed selectively; and in still other cases the resistance has erupted into active revolt, calling into question whether the “Conquest” has ever ended? Students will learn of the diversity of indigenous cultures that still thrive in Middle America: the Maya, Nahua, Huichol, Mixtec, Zapotec, and more. They will read ethnographic essays on traditional lifeways and view ethnographic films of traditional activities, including ritual, craft production, and domestic life. By focussing an anthropological lens on traditional peoples of Middle America, archaeology students will experience the richness that ethnographic analogy can bring to archaeological interpretations of the more distant past. Archaeology is a discipline ideally designed for the study of culture change, and the historical anthropology of post-Conquest Middle America can reveal important patterns that can in turn inform on pre-Columbian Mesoamerica.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS AND GRADING:

Students will be responsible for readings in the text, as well as selected readings, and documentary films to be shown in class. The course will be conducted as a lecture, with the expectation that students will participate in discussions of the films and readings. Requirements will include two midterm exams (25 pts each), five article/film summaries (2 pts each), and a final exam (40 pts), totaling 100 points. Students interested in writing a research paper, worth 25 pts, can substitute that for the second midterm exam. It is not necessary for students to receive passing grades in all components of the course. Individual grades will be based on total points received:

97-100 = A+	87-89 = B+	77-79 = C+	67-69 = D+
93-96 = A	83-86 = B	73-76 = C	60-66 = D
90-92 = A-	80-82 = B-	70-72 = C-	Less than 60 points = F

RESEARCH PAPERS

A short research paper (6-8 pages) may be substituted in place of a mid-term exam. Paper topics should be cleared with the professor in advance, but may include such themes as cultures or cultural practices. A good place to look for topics is in the textbook, readings, or in anthropology/archaeology journals. A research paper should involve at least 5 published sources (not including the textbook), and at least one of those should be from a scholarly journal; Web sources may be (cautiously!) included in addition to the 5 published sources. Referencing format should follow the example found in American Antiquity (the Monaghan article uses this format).

IMPORTANT: Plagiarism, defined as copying more than 5 words in succession or using information without adequate citation (i.e., reference and page number) of the original source, is a violation of academic integrity. Research papers that plagiarize will receive a score of 0, and the student may be turned in to the Dean of Social Sciences (see page 49 of the U of Calgary Calendar).

PET PEAVES: #1 The past tense of “to lead” is “led,” “lead” as the past tense is incorrect. #2 Conjoining “it” + “is” results in “it’s;” “its” is the possessive of “it.” Misuse of these terms may result in a loss of points.

TEXTBOOK and READINGS:

The Legacy of Mesoamerica: History and Culture of a Native American Civilization, by Robert M. Carmack, Janine Gasco, and Gary H. Gossen. 1996. Prentice Hall, Englewood Cliffs, NJ.

Additional readings will be announced on Blackboard

Writing across the Curriculum

Writing skills are not exclusive to English courses and, in fact, should cross all disciplines. The University supports the belief that throughout their University careers, students should be taught how to write well so that when they graduate their writing abilities will be far above the minimal standards required at entrance. Consistent with this belief, students are expected to do a substantial amount of writing in their University courses and, where appropriate, instructors can and may use writing and the grading thereof as a factor in the evaluation of student work. The services provided by the Writing Centre in the Effective Writing Office can be utilized by all undergraduate and graduate students who feel they require further assistance.

Academic Accommodation Policy

It is the students' responsibility to request academic accommodations. If you are a student with a documented disability who may require academic accommodations and have not registered with Student Accessibility Services, please contact them at 403-220-6019. Students who have not registered with Student Accessibility Services are not eligible for formal academic accommodations. More information about academic accommodations can be found at www.ucalgary.ca/access.

Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act

The University of Calgary is committed to protecting the privacy of individuals who work and study at the University or who otherwise interact with the University in accordance with the standards set out in the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act.

Academic Misconduct

Academic dishonesty is an unacceptable activity at the University of Calgary and students are strongly advised to read the Student Misconduct section of the University Calendar. Quite often, students are unaware of what constitutes academic dishonesty or plagiarism. The most common are:

- 1) Presenting another student's work as your own
- 2) Presenting an author's work or ideas as you own without proper referencing
- 3) Using work completed for another course

This activity will not be tolerated and students conducting themselves in this manner will be dealt with according to the procedures outlined in the University Calendar.

For detailed information on what constitutes academic misconduct, please refer to the following link:

<http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/k-2-1.html>

Plagiarism

Plagiarism involves submitting or presenting work as if it were the student's own work when it is not. Any ideas or materials taken from another source written, electronic, or oral must be fully and formally acknowledged. Plagiarism includes but is not limited to:

- (a) The work submitted or presented was done, in whole or in part, by an individual other than the one submitting or presenting the work (this includes having another impersonate the student or otherwise substituting the work of another for one's own in an examination or test),
- (b) Parts of the work are taken from another source without reference to the original author,
- (c) The whole work (e.g., an essay) is copied from another source, and/or,
- (d) A student submits or presents work in one course which has also been submitted in another course (although it may be completely original with that student) without the knowledge of or prior agreement of the instructor involved.

While it is recognized that scholarly work often involves reference to the ideas, data and conclusions of other scholars, intellectual honesty requires that such references be explicitly and clearly noted. Plagiarism is an extremely serious academic offence. It is recognized that clause (d) does not prevent a graduate student incorporating work previously done by him or her in a thesis or dissertation.

Emergency Evacuation Assembly Points

In the event of an emergency that requires evacuation, please refer to the following link to become familiar with the assembly points for the class:
