Course Description

A critical exploration of the development of and discussions about different art movements in relation to Modern Art and the avant-garde, addressing the historical circumstances that enabled the creation of selected art movements, which may include Impressionism, the Arts and Crafts Movement, Cubism, Surrealism, Pop Art, Fluxus, and Situationist.

Prerequisites &/or Co-requisites

None

Antirequisite(s): Credit for Art History 331 and any of 405, 407 or 415 will not be allowed.

Objectives of the Course

The primary objectives of this course are:

- To introduce students to a range of artistic practices that defined modernism in the visual arts, beginning in Europe in the mid-nineteenth-century and spreading globally up to the end of World War II;
- To understand and interrogate the place of art in its historical and social context, and to use art as a means to learn about the past;
- To understand the ways in which artists reflected—and in some cases sought to challenge—the crucial conditions of “modernity”: its politics, economics, media, aesthetics, prejudices, ways of life, and categories of identity;
- To learn to engage with art through close study;
- To develop capacities in academic research and the comprehension of complex texts; and
- To strengthen critical writing and argumentation.

Participation

Participation is an important component of the course. This requires a minimum of attendance, punctuality, and attention in every session. Each student will be evaluated based on their informed, respectful, and active participation in group discussions and activities.

Close looking and discussion of works of art will be a central aspect of our class meetings.

This course requires students to carefully read assigned texts each week. These readings will be discussed together in class and serve as the basis of examinations and assignments.

A rubric for participation will be provided in class.

Writing

Writing is an important component of this class. Graded writing assignments will comprise two essay assignments and a research prospectus, as well as the midterm and final exams.

Registrar-Scheduled Final Exam – NO

Note: It is the student's responsibility to keep a copy of or any relevant documentation regarding each submitted assignment.

Late Assignment Policy

Students who miss a required component of the course or submit work late will lose grades.

Late assignments will lose a letter grade per day in penalties (e.g., from A- to B+), and no assignments will be accepted after December 6th.

No exceptions will be made for technical problems or corrupted files.

Extensions will be allowed only in exceptional circumstances, with documentation provided for approval in advance of deadlines.

Course Activities

A schedule of readings and lectures will be distributed on the first day of class and posted on D2L.

Grading Method/Grading Scale:

Percentage	Grade	G.P.V.	Grade Definition

55-59	C-	1.7
53-54	D+	1.3
50-52	D	1.0	Minimal pass – marginal performance; generally insufficient preparation for subsequent courses in the same subject
0-49	F	0	Fail – unsatisfactory performance or failure to meet course requirements.

Internet and Electronic Communication Device Information

Class meetings will not require electronic devices.

Absolutely no cell phone use is allowed in class.

It is strongly recommended that students bring a pencil/pen and a notebook/pad to every class for note-taking during lectures, activities, and writing assignments.

Laptops are permitted as an option for note-taking. However, class meetings involve close looking, listening, and discussion; students are strongly urged not to let laptops get in the way of their participation.

Absolutely no unauthorized use of the internet is permitted. The professor reserves the right to revoke laptop use at any time.

Writing/Plagiarism

Writing skills are not exclusive to English courses and, in fact, should cross all disciplines. The University supports the belief that throughout their University careers, students should be taught how to write well so that when they graduate their writing abilities will be far above the minimal standards required at entrance. Consistent with this belief, students are expected to do a substantial amount of writing in their University courses and, where appropriate, members of faculty can and should use writing and the grading thereof as a factor in the evaluation of student work. The services provided by the Writing Support Services can be utilized by all undergraduate and graduate students who feel they require further assistance.

Using any source whatsoever without clearly documenting it is a serious academic offense. Consequences include failure on the assignment, failure in the course and possibly suspension or expulsion from the university. Visual art projects submitted for course credit must be produced by the student specifically for this class. Students must not submit projects if credit has or will be provided for it in another class. This includes re-worked assignments from previous or concurrent courses, unless permission is provided in writing by the instructor. Additionally, the student is asked to be mindful of using visual sources from the internet, ensuring that that material is not derived from any on-line or other available source, and that appropriate copyright permission is granted, when required.

Instructor Intellectual Property and Copyright Legislation

Course materials created by the instructor (including course outlines, presentations and posted notes, labs, case studies, assignments and exams) remain the intellectual property of the instructor. These materials may NOT be reproduced, redistributed or copied without the explicit consent of the instructor. The posting of course materials to third party websites such as note-sharing sites without permission is prohibited. Sharing of extracts of these course materials with other students enrolled in the same course section and term may be allowed under fair dealing. Check with the instructor if you have any questions about sharing materials with classmates.

All students are required to read the University of Calgary policy on Acceptable Use of Material Protected by Copyright (www.ucalgary.ca/policies/files/policies/acceptable-use-of-material-protected-by-copyright.pdf) and requirements of the copyright act (<https://laws-lois.justice.gc.ca/eng/acts/C-42/index.html>) to ensure they are aware of the consequences of unauthorized sharing of course materials (including instructor notes, electronic versions of textbooks, etc.).

Students who use material protected by copyright in violation of this policy may be disciplined under the Non-Academic Misconduct Policy.

Lockers

The Art Building lockers are administered through the Student's Union's used bookstore, Bound and Copied. Lockers are rented on a first come, first served basis. Due to the shortage of lockers, and the high demand, students cannot hold more than one locker at a time. All of the details on renting a locker and your responsibilities can be found on the Locker Rental Agreement at https://www.su.ucalgary.ca/wp-content/uploads/2014/08/locker_rental_agreement_2010.pdf

Lockers for all sessions can be rented through my.ucalgary.ca. Once you're in the Student Centre, click on Other Academic Services and choose Locker Reservation.

Lockers must be vacated by the end of term.
