Course Description

Basic concepts and techniques of lithographic printing.

Prerequisites &/or Co-requisites

None

Objectives of the Course

Upon satisfactory completion of the course the student will have a working knowledge of the basic photo-lithographic process. Students will learn to abstract an idea in the visual language and apply the idea through several stages in a cohesive concept.

Theory and practice: students will learn how to process an image from a drawing, translate and expand the idea through the printing procedure, and obtain a consistent edition in printing.

One of the key elements in the course is printing skill and students will learn to collaborate his/her ideas with classmates to compose new ideas through the Chine-colle method. Participation, feedback and the exchange of ideas in the friendly environment of classroom and group critiques will be a large part in the course.

Textbooks and Readings

There are two helpful texts relating to the thematic course, but students are not required to read either.

1. Things Fall Apart by Chinua Achebe (easy read)
2. Rebecca Belmore: Fountain by Jessica Bradley (easy read)

Assignments and Evaluation

1. Participation in class discussions and critiques 10%

Attendance and active engagement in classroom discussions and critiques is required. Engagement includes: asking questions of the technician and instructor; responding thoughtfully to questions posed by the technician and instructor during discussions and critiques; respectful and thoughtful comments during critiques.

Students are also required to handle equipment and materials properly and to use the studio and workshop in an appropriate manner.

Organization, timely attendance and preparation for class exercises are expected.

2. In-class work 20%

Productivity and organizational skills in the class.

3. Three term assignments 60% (20% each)

Standard of work achieved in terms of originality, depth of investigation, research and completeness, in respect of both individual pieces and total body of work.

Assignment #1	20%	due Oct 16
Assignment #2	20%	due Nov 8
Assignment #3	20%	due Dec 6

After each assignment is handed in, it will be discussed at a group critique and then presented on the Department of Art's bulletin boards. After each assignment is completed, students will receive written feedback on the month's progress with four scores on the merit of the assignment, printing, participation and in-class work. Progress made in comparison to the student's starting point, bearing in mind the previous knowledge and background of the student.

The assignments will not need to be handed in again at the end of the term.

All assignments will be handed in at AB770.

4. Printing Practice 10% (2 x 5)

Students will have three printing editions through three assignments, and two additional printing as helper to two classmates.

Writing

Written summaries on three group critiques will be graded as Pass or Fail.

A passing grade on the course requires students to have average of B+ on the three assignments.

Registrar-Scheduled Final Exam – NO

Note: It is the student's responsibility to keep a copy of or any relevant documentation regarding each submitted assignment.

Please hand in your assignments directly to your instructor. If this is not possible, you can use the drop box outside of AB 608. Assignments that are put into the drop box will be date-stamped and placed in the instructor's mailbox.

Late Assignment Policy

If students hand in their assignments late without medical reason, one grade will be deducted per week (e.g., A to A-).

Studio Procedures

The creation of art can be a dirty process and a studio is only workable if everyone cooperates in keeping it clean. Out of respect and consideration for your class mates and other users of the space, it is expected that everyone will participate in keeping the studio clean and tidy.

Internet and Electronic Communication Device Information

Students are encouraged to bring his/her own genre of music to be shared with other students during studio time; however, there won't be any individual headphone, music or cell phone use during class or group critiques.

Writing/Plagiarism

Writing skills are not exclusive to English courses and, in fact, should cross all disciplines. The University supports the belief that throughout their University careers, students should be taught how to write well so that when they graduate their writing abilities will be far above the minimal standards required at entrance. Consistent with this belief, students are expected to do a substantial amount of writing in their University courses and, where appropriate, members of faculty can and should use writing and the grading thereof as a factor in the evaluation of student work. The services provided by the Writing Support Services can be utilized by all undergraduate and graduate students who feel they require further assistance.

Using any source whatsoever without clearly documenting it is a serious academic offense. Consequences include failure on the assignment, failure in the course and possibly suspension or expulsion from the university. Visual art projects submitted for course credit must be produced by the student specifically for this class. Students must not submit projects if credit has or will be provided for it in another class. This includes re-worked assignments from previous or concurrent courses, unless permission is provided in writing by the instructor. Additionally, the student is asked to be mindful of using visual sources from the internet, ensuring that that material is not derived from any on-line or other available source, and that appropriate copyright permission is granted, when required.
