An e-text is also available.

IMPORTANT

All quizzes will be conducted online using D2L, but the Final Exam will be conducted on campus.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course is a self-directed online course offered on Desire2Learn (<http://d2l.ucalgary.ca>), with regularly scheduled online quizzes and an on campus final exam. The primary goal of this course is to equip students with the skills necessary to comprehend, acquire, and retain medical and scientific vocabulary derived from Greek and Latin. The course will be particularly useful to students in medicine and the sciences, where a large percentage of the terminology and jargon has a Classical origin. In this course, students will learn the definitions of Greek and Latin words and word elements such as prefixes, bases, and suffixes, as well as English words and definitions derived from these Greek and Latin words. Students should develop a thorough understanding of word formation rules using the Greek and Latin prefixes, bases, and suffixes in order to construct and deconstruct new medical and scientific words.

This course is entirely self-directed, covering the entirety of Turley's Medical Language. There are no in-class lectures and students are entirely responsible for mastering the material themselves. The D2L site will not provide the actual text to be mastered, nor practice exercises: the textbook contains the necessary material as well as extensive practice exercises.

If you have any questions or require any assistance with the material, please feel free to contact me. E-mail is the best way to contact me, and I will endeavour to respond to all e-mails within 24 hours on weekdays; e-mails sent on the weekend may take slightly longer to receive a reply. If you need any technical assistance with D2L, please contact Information Technologies at <http://www.ucalgary.ca/it/>.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Five quizzes will be held online on D2L. You may take these quizzes from any computer, at any time during the quiz period. The final exam will be paper based and taken on campus. Due to the nature of the material, the final exam will be cumulative, and STUDENTS MUST PASS THE FINAL EXAM IN ORDER TO PASS THE COURSE. The final exam date will be scheduled by the registrar. More information about the final exam and its format will be available later in the semester.

Please ensure that you note these dates down carefully, as you are completely responsible for knowing when the quizzes will occur and writing them at the correct time. If you are taking this course at a distance, please be aware that all times are Mountain Daylight Time and adjust your schedule accordingly.

All quizzes will be available on the D2L site on the appointed days during the time period listed above, and can be written from a computer of your choice (home, computer lab, library) as your individual schedule permits. Further information and regulations regarding exams is posted on D2L, and you should read this carefully prior to the first quiz. You may notice that the number of chapters covered by each quiz increases as the semester progresses. However, the number of new terms to master does not change, as the first chapters contain more material than the later chapters by necessity.

Test deferrals will not be granted without prior notification except in special cases. Valid excuses must be accompanied by appropriate documentation. Please contact me as soon as possible to make arrangements.
