COURSE CALENDAR STATEMENT: An introduction to the academic study of religion with particular emphasis on the nature of religion, its role as a response to existential questions, and the relationship of religion to contemporary thought and culture.

COURSE DESCRIPTION: What gives life meaning? Many people find meaning in their religious traditions. Many religious traditions have established ethical and moral frameworks regulating personal behaviours which act as a guide for adherents in determining what is right and what is wrong. This course will provide students with an introduction to several major world religions from an academic perspective. This course will also explore how these religions provide people with meaning by guiding individuals towards living a good and moral life. From an academic perspective, this course will discuss and analyze the question: What does it mean to live an ethical life? Students will learn how religious traditions address important moral and ethical issues through examining moral inquiries, theories, and issues. This course will give students the opportunity to explore religious traditions, ethics, and morality.

This course has also been condensed for the Summer term and covers the same amount of material as a Fall or Winter semester course. Therefore, students should expect it to be a full semester worth of work in a shorter amount of time.

This course will take place online via Desire2Learn (D2L). This course will occur asynchronously. This means that there are no “real-time” or “live” lectures. Rather, students will complete the material for each module on their own time (example: complete the readings, watch videos, etc.). Students will have access to audio lectures recorded by the instructor for each module.

COURSE LEARNING OUTCOMES

Students will be introduced to different religious traditions with a strong emphasis on ethics and morality from an academic perspective. Committed students will be expected to reflect on ethical issues and will be able to analyze contemporary moral dilemmas. Students will further develop their reading, researching, and writing skills through completing assessments, especially the essay. Students will also develop their critical thinking through assessments. Engaged students will become knowledgeable of the moral principles within each major religious tradition and be able to think about and analyze how to live a good and moral life.

ASSESSMENT COMPONENTS

Deadline	Assessment	Weight (%)
Thursday, July 8	Quiz	10%
Thursday, July 22	Midterm	30%
Thursday, August 5	Essay	30%
Scheduled by the Registrar (August 13 – August 17)	Final Exam	30%

Assessment Descriptions:

Quiz (10%): Students will write a short quiz on D2L. This quiz is composed of multiple-choice questions that are based on the readings from Module One. The quiz will be available on Desire2Learn for 24 hours on the date assigned for the quiz. Students are expected to take the quiz within that period. The quiz will also be individually timed, requiring students to complete the quiz in one sitting and within a specified time limit. More information and specific instructions will be made available on Desire2Learn.

Midterm (30%): The midterm will be a mixture of multiple-choice and short answer (written response) style questions. The test will be based on course content from Modules Two and Three (Judaism and Christianity). There is an expectation that students will also bring what they have learned from Module One into the midterm. The midterm will be available on Desire2Learn for 24 hours on the date assigned for the midterm. Students are expected to take the test within that period. The midterm will also be individually timed, requiring students to complete the test in one sitting and within a specified time limit. Students are expected to complete the midterm (and all quizzes, tests, and exams) independently and students are not allowed to work with others or have others write their midterm for them as this would count as academic misconduct. More information and specific instructions will be made available on Desire2Learn.

Essay (30%): Students will compose a short essay based on course content and external research (proper academic sources). Students need to include citations and a bibliography following a chosen citation method (ex: Chicago, MLA, APA, etc.). Emphasis will be placed on a well-developed thesis statement that clearly and concisely explains your position. Further emphasis will be placed on the logical development of ideas and arguments, support of ideas and arguments, presentation of counter arguments, writing style (thematic, chronological, etc.), proper use of sources, proper citations, as well as spelling and grammar. The essay topic and full instructions will be posted to Desire2Learn.

Final Exam (30%): The final exam will be in a similar format as the midterm (it will be composed of a mixture of multiple-choice questions and short answer / written response style questions). The final exam is not cumulative. The exam will be based on the course content from Module Four and Five (Islam and Buddhism). There is an expectation that students will also bring what they have learned from Module One into the final exam. The exam will be scheduled by the Registrar and completed on Desire2Learn. More information and specific instructions will be made available on Desire2Learn.

Contingency Plan for Timed Assessments: For the quiz, midterm, and final exam, students will receive extra time as a contingency plan for issues that may arise, such as issues with technology, care-giving responsibilities, and unavoidable distractions. Students are expected to contact the instructor immediately, if these issues persist.

Extra Assignments: There are no extra tests or assignments for this course. Students will not be given an opportunity to submit extra work or re-take tests to increase their grade.

MISSED OR LATE ASSIGNMENTS

It is your responsibility to ensure that you complete all assessments within the allotted time. If you do not complete a test or assignment within the specified time given, contact your instructor as soon as possible. If a student is unable to complete a test due to technical issues (interruption of Internet service or computer, server malfunction, etc.), the student must notify the instructor within 24 hours via email. It is important for students to ensure that they have access to dependable Internet and power sources. For example, if your battery dies, it will not be considered an acceptable reason for failing to complete the test. For students who experience technical issues, please contact the instructor as soon as possible. In the meantime, document your technical issues with a screenshot to show the instructor.

GRADING

A numerical mark will be given for each course requirement. A letter grade will be assigned on the following number and letter grade scheme, usually used within the Department of Classics and Religion:

A+	100 - 96	A	95 - 90	A-	89 - 85
B+	84 - 80	B	79 - 75	B-	74 - 70
C+	69 - 65	C	64 - 60	C-	59 - 55
D+	54 - 53	D	52-50	F	Under 50

A student's final grade for the course is the sum of the separate tests and assignments. It is not necessary to pass each test or assignment separately in order to pass the course. In other words, there are no assessments that are graded "pass/fail." The instructor will implement a standard measure of .5% adjustment for rounding up grades. For example, 59.5% will be rounded up to 60%. Only final grades are adjusted (individual tests are not rounded up). Please do not send emails asking the instructor to "round-up" your final grade. The weighting for the module tests is identified above. The weighting of tests will not be changed to accommodate individual student requests. See the University's undergraduate grading system:

<https://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/f-1.html>.

EXPECTATIONS FOR WRITING

There is an expectation that all writing is your own, even on tests. This means that you do not directly copy material from other sources or another person. This also means that you do not paraphrase (re-write) someone else's work in your own words without also citing (providing a citation, like a footnote) to show where you found the information. This is very important as plagiarism is not tolerated at the University of Calgary and has serious consequences. Your work must be your own and inadequate referencing may be seen as plagiarism. Please see the relevant sections on Academic Misconduct in the current University Calendar (section K, which can be found here: <http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/k.html>). If you have questions about correct referencing, please consult your instructor, or librarian staff.

All writing (including writing on tests) will be assessed on both form and content. This means that writing skills are important in this course. Writing skills include not only surface correctness (grammar, punctuation, sentence structure, etc.) but also general clarity and organization. If you need help with your writing, you may use the writing support services in the Learning Commons. For further information, please refer to the official online University of Calgary Calendar, Academic Regulations, E. Course Information, E.2: Writing Across the Curriculum: <http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/e-2.html>
