Course Description

This course examines some fundamental philosophical and religious questions from a variety of perspectives, drawing upon Western and Eastern traditions. The course is not intended as a survey of these systems of thought but rather aims to encourage cross-cultural comparisons of metaphysical, ethical, and religious ideas.

Online elements for this course (if any) Some readings will be on Blackboard

Core Competencies

Emphasis will be placed on developing analytical and critical thinking skills. Students will be encouraged to engage with these texts in order to reflect on some of the prevailing assumptions of contemporary societies.

Course Requirements

Date	Assessment	Weight (%)	Required pass/fail
February 13, 2014	Mid-term exam	40.00%*	Yes
April 3, 2014	In-class exam	10.00%	Yes
April 8, 2014	Final Paper (8-10 pages) paper topics to be handed out in class	50.00%	Yes

*You may choose to count the exam for which you receive the highest grade for 40% and the other midterm for 10%. In other words, if your grade for the final in-class exam is higher than that of the midterm, you may count that for 40%.

There will be no Registrar scheduled final exam in this course.

Grading

A numerical mark will be given for each course requirement. A letter grade will be assigned on the following number and letter grade scheme, standardized within the Department of Religious Studies:

A+	100 - 96	A	95 - 90	A-	89 - 85
B+	84 - 80	B	79 - 75	B-	74 - 70
C+	69 - 65	C	64 - 60	C-	59 - 55
D+	54 - 53	D	52-50	F	Under 50

N.B. All written assignments will be graded with regard to both form and content.

Policy with regard to missed assignments/assessments

Paper topics will be distributed in class and will require students to engage in a cross-cultural comparison by drawing on Western and Eastern works. Late papers will be graded down at a rate of 3% a day. The paper can be handed in at any time during the semester prior to the deadline. The late deadline allows those students writing on works discussed later in the semester to attend the lectures on these books before handing in their paper. Having other assignments and tests due at this time will not be sufficient reason for extension. You have the option of handing the paper in earlier and choosing a topic that allows you to do so.

The in-class exams MUST be written on the date specified. Make-up tests will only be granted under exceptional circumstances and must be accompanied by appropriate documentation such as a doctor's note.

Expectations for student conduct in this course

Students will be expected to attend classes and are encouraged strongly to participate in class discussions. I do not do make-up lectures for missed classes, nor do I distribute lecture notes therefore it is your responsibility to borrow notes off another student if you miss a class.

Internet and Electronic Communication Device Policy

TBA the first day of class.

Syllabus

A complete syllabus will be made available the first week of class.

References and Bibliography

The Department of Religious Studies uses the most recent edition of the Chicago Manual of Style and requires references and bibliographies to adhere to the Chicago citation system. You can find a quick guide here: http://www.chicagomanualofstyle.org/tools_citationguide.html. Alternatively please consult with the library staff for help and advice using the Chicago citation style.

Academic Honesty

Plagiarism is not tolerated at the University of Calgary and has serious consequences. Your essays/presentations must be your own work and inadequate referencing may be seen as plagiarism. Please see the relevant sections on Academic Misconduct in the current University Calendar (section K, which can be found here: <http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/k.html>.)If you have questions about correct referencing, please consult your instructor, librarian staff or the Chicago manual of style.
