COURSE CALENDAR STATEMENT:

Detailed examination of a selected writer, topic, or intellectual current in recent religious thought.

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

Movement is the hallmark of diasporization. This course grapples with the impact of migratory movements on religion through the intersections of diaspora with localism, globalization through nation-state and transnational structures. The Sikh Diaspora begins in the nineteenth century as ex-soldiers from the British Sikh regiments began to explore other colonies for opportunities. Sikhs have settled across the globe; the two largest Diasporas are in Canada and England. How does diaspora shape religiosity and impact interactions in the public sphere through stereotypes? Being in a Diaspora presents unique opportunities and challenges for the Sikh tradition and nations they inhabit.

This course examines networks adapting Sikh culture to globalization through the theme of movement. Students consider the challenges migration creates in creating alternate community norms through multicultural interaction by diasporas in Canada, England, and the United States. This includes examining events and documents reflecting issues faced by the Sikhs such as coverage by news coverage, film, and documents created by community members and mainstream media. Students will discuss how debates on religious identity and human rights, engendered violence, popular culture, visibility, entrepreneurship, and honour killings often shape interactions between the Sikh community, other minorities, majoritarian perceptions, and democratic institutions in fluctuating historical contexts.

For online courses:

This course is offered online via Desire2Learn (D2L) and Zoom. Students will participate in asynchronous learning tasks. I will primarily use PowerPoint presentations, readings, videos, and audio recordings to convey course material.

I request that students familiarize themselves with the various components of D2L such as using discussion boards, submitting assignments, and using Zoom.

In consideration of ZOOM fatigue and anxiety group video phenomenon, we will limit the use of ZOOM but recognize it is necessary to deliver the course material. There is no pressure or necessity to use the video function of ZOOM, I am happy conversing about your concerns without the video enabled, and also enabling the chat function to ask questions etc.

COURSE LEARNING OUTCOMES

Identify the course learning outcomes that describe what learners will know and be able to do by the end of the course.

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. Understand key terms associated with the study of migrant communities like the Sikhs.
2. Demonstrate ability to analyze and discuss central issues at the intersection of religion and migration studies.
3. Use a range of critical skills to understand and breakdown arguments offered about Sikh Diaspora.
4. Use a range of research skills to investigate the intersection between religion, diaspora, and multiculturalism.
5. Demonstrate appropriate social behaviours and knowledge of cross-cultural differences when working with peers.
6. Use this knowledge and critical ability when working with peers in class contexts and during everyday interpersonal interactions.
7. Articulate the impact that Imperialism, Globalization and Market Capitalism has on minoritized, racialized, and otherwise oppressed forms of ethical individual and social consciousness.
8. Explain why re-considering and applying oppressed forms of consciousness to global humanitarian crises may be beneficial within universities, nationally, and inter-nationally to rethink collective experience through multiplicity rather than universality alone.

*LEARNING RESOURCES

Include any required textbooks and/or readings. Specify if a link to any required textbooks and/or readings will be provided in the course D2L site. Review copyright information for all resources included (see <https://library.ucalgary.ca/copyright>) and ensure all readings and other electronic resources have been reviewed for copyright compliance by contacting copyright@ucalgary.ca prior to the start of term.

*LEARNING TECHNOLOGIES AND REQUIREMENTS

Include any learning technology requirements. Amendments to the academic calendar are currently in discussion to require statements related to learning technology requirements in course outlines. Principles and guidelines for supplementary fees that may be associated with additional technology requirements for courses can be found at: www.ucalgary.ca/calendar-scheduling/supplementary-fees.

For example:

There is a D2L site for this course which contains required readings and other relevant class resources and materials (see d2l.ucalgary.ca).

In order to successfully engage in their learning experiences at the University of Calgary, students taking online, remote and blended courses are required to have reliable access to the following technology:

- A computer with a supported operating system, as well as the latest security, and malware updates;
- A current and updated web browser;
- Webcam (built-in or external);
- Microphone and speaker (built-in or external), or headset with microphone;
- Current antivirus and/or firewall software enabled;
- Broadband internet connection.

Most current laptops will have a built-in webcam, speaker and microphone.

CLASS SCHEDULE

A detailed list of lecture topics and reading schedule will be provided during the first week.

EXAMINATIONS

There is no final exam for this class. Students will submit a term paper in its stead.

ASSESSMENT COMPONENTS

Date	Assessment	Weight (%)	Required pass/fail
*There are no tests or assignments before the add/drop date
Response Papers: Students will choose which week these are submitted in first week of semester.	1. Reading Response 2. Reading Response 3. Visual Culture Response 4. Media Analysis Response	15% 15% 15% 15%
	Terminal Research Paper	30%
	Discussion Participation (via D2L)	10%

*Note February 14-20 Term Break and Monday, April 5 are holidays

Reading Response Papers:

Students will prepare a summary response based on two readings from the course as well as a selection from Sikh Diasporic visual culture and a media piece about Sikh Diaspora. Students will select the dates for these responses based on their individual schedules in the first week of semester. The two reading responses will be written first and then the students will progress to conduct the media and visual cultural responses after that. Responses will be summaries of about 2 pages in length.

Term Research Paper:

Students will select a topic relating to the Sikh Diaspora and prepare a research paper of 10-15 pages. Paper will be based on analysis of a phenomenon that connects to migration, religion, and multiculturalism.

Discussion Participation:

We will be using D2L functions to facilitate discussion. This will be explained in greater detail on the D2L course site itself in the first week of class.

Students will be responsible to discuss and respond to one another regarding the readings regularly. They will discuss the issue by direct reference and reflection on the reading. Students will follow the discussion guidelines (posted to D2L) when composing the responses. Successive answers of two to three concise sentences that directly engage each issue you selected will be needed.

MISSED OR LATE ASSIGNMENTS*

Communication is key to online learning. Look ahead and compare what it is going on in this class with the remainder of your courses.

Anticipate where you may have difficulty in getting a required assignment in on time and notify me in advance through email to discuss possibilities of avoiding the consequences of a late or missed assignment.

If you anticipate being challenged in getting an assignment in on time, notify the instructor by email at least a week (7 days) and no later than 48 hours before the due date by email in order to avoid consequences to your grade. Students will discuss options to submit and/or make-up for that component.

Late assignments, those submitted after the deadline, will be penalized with the loss of a grade (e.g.: A- to B+) for each day late unless the student has notified the instructor in advance as stated above.

GRADING

<https://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/f-1.html>.

A numerical mark will be given for each course requirement. A letter grade will be assigned on the following number and letter grade scheme, usually used within the Department of Classics and Religion:

A+	100 - 96	A	95 - 90	A-	89 - 85
----	----------	---	---------	----	---------

B+	84 - 80	B	79 - 75	B-	74 - 70
C+	69 - 65	C	64 - 60	C-	59 - 55
D+	54 - 53	D	52-50	F	Under 50

A student's final grade for the course is the sum of the separate assignments that is then combined with the individual weightage for each component of the course. It is not necessary to pass each assignment separately to pass the course.

EXPECTATIONS FOR WRITING

All written assignments (including, to a lesser extent, written exam responses) will be assessed at least partly on writing skills. Writing skills include not only surface correctness (grammar, punctuation, sentence structure, etc.) but also clarity, organization, and content related to lectures not prior knowledge some students may have upon entering course.

Students will be given resources for writing through D2L.

For further information, please refer to the official online University of Calgary Calendar, Academic Regulations, E. Course Information, E.2: Writing Across the Curriculum:

<http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/e-2.html>

GUIDELINES FOR SUBMITTING ASSIGNMENTS

Please submit or complete all assignments electronically in D2L. Assignments may be submitted in Word or PDF format. Unless you are directly posting on the discussion board, assignments should have a file name as follows: "Last Name First Name Assignment Name" (e.g., Gurbhagat Kaur Response 1).

Assignments must be submitted by 11:59pm on their due date.

It is the student's responsibility to keep a copy of each submitted assignment and to ensure that the proper version is submitted.

CONDUCT

General Guidelines:

Students, employees, and academic staff are also expected to demonstrate behaviour in class that promotes and maintains a positive and productive learning environment. As members of the University community, students, employees, and academic staff are expected to demonstrate conduct that is consistent with the University of Calgary Calendar, the Code of Conduct and Non-Academic Misconduct policy and procedures, which can be found at: <http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/k.html>

Student Conduct for Success in this Course:

Timely and regular review of lectures, participation in discussion, and completion of course assessments.

Asking questions for clarification when needed for lecture material is crucial in an online course.

Adherence to the Electronic Device Policy. Respectful attitude toward alternate perspectives. Ensuring safe, open, and hospitable classroom environment for fellow classmates to express opinions and ask questions during class.

Facilitating & Participating in Discussion –

As the readings forms a central aspect of this course, students will facilitate class discussion by introducing the reading and providing some commentary or questions related to the reading with a PowerPoint Presentation, or other digital material such as audio or video files posted on the course D2L page.

Discussion Participation will assess the extent to which students who are not facilitator(s) engage with the presentation using a discussion board.

Discussion board will provide an open, congenial, and safe space for critical reflection.

Considering this, students should familiarize themselves with the discussion guidelines below and whatever they may need to create the presentation early during the semester.

GUIDELINES FOR DISCUSSION:

- Discussions should remain on the discussion board only.
- This is an anti-racist and anti-oppression class. This policy is to enable NOT prevent discussion and engagement from all students while taking their perspectives and life experiences as seriously as any other member of the class. This ensures that marginal perspectives are given the same weight in terms of the kinds of questions as in humanities courses as normative experiences.
- Micro-aggressions and macro-aggression are not acceptable. This means that any intentional or unintentional verbal, behavioral, or other form of indignities regarding individuals or groups that individual in class may identify with are not permitted. This includes comments about class, caste, race, religion, and gender that use personal slights, insult, or profanities.
- Focus discussion on the reading. Support your statements with evidence or provide a rationale for your analysis. Feel free to refer to page numbers and quote the text.
- Discussion facilitates learning; it is not for debating or “winning” an argument. Comment to share information by bringing out relevant aspects of readings, fundamental concepts mentioned, or strategies used for analysis and reflection.
- Respect the right of fellow participants to disagree with perspective you might favor.
- Disagree with, challenge, or criticize the idea and not the person.
- Be courteous, attentive, and acknowledge what peers are saying when responding.
- Avoid being speculative or inflammatory.
- Include one another in the discussion. Refer to the comments you are responding to and connect your ideas and perspectives to those comments specifically (using the name of the student who authored the earlier post helps here)
- Do not make assumptions about one another or generalize about social groups they may or may not belong to.
- Do not ask individuals to speak for a perceived social group they might belong to.
- Personal, experiential perspectives are welcomed when relevant and if you are willing to offer them. They should be engaged with remembering that making personal comments is taking a risk and the person doing so should be encouraged for doing so.

GUIDELINES FOR ZOOM SESSIONS

Zoom is a video conferencing program that will allow us to meet at specific times for a “live” video conference, so that we can have the opportunity to meet each other virtually and discuss relevant course topics as a learning community.

To help ensure Zoom sessions are private, do not share the Zoom link or password with others, or on any social media platforms. Zoom links and passwords are only intended for students registered in the course. Zoom recordings and materials presented in Zoom, including any teaching materials, must not be shared, distributed or published without the instructor’s permission.

The use of video conferencing programs relies on participants to act ethically, honestly and with integrity; and in accordance with the principles of fairness, good faith, and respect (as per the Code of Conduct). When entering Zoom or other video conferencing sessions (such as MS Teams), you play a role in helping create an effective, safe and respectful learning environment. Please be mindful of how your behaviour in these sessions may affect others. Participants are required to use names officially associated with their UCID (legal or preferred names listed in the Student Centre) when engaging in these activities. Instructors/moderators can remove those whose names do not appear on class rosters. Non-compliance may be investigated under relevant University of Calgary conduct policies (e.g Student Non-Academic Misconduct Policy). If participants have difficulties complying with this requirement, they should email the instructor of the class explaining why, so the instructor may consider whether to grant an exception, and on what terms. For more information on how to get the most out of your zoom sessions visit: <https://elearn.ucalgary.ca/guidelines-for-zoom/>.

The instructor may record online Zoom class sessions for the purposes of supporting student learning in this class – such as making the recording available for review of the session or for students who miss a session. Students will be advised before the instructor initiates a recording of a Zoom session. These recordings will be used to support student learning only and will not be shared or used for any other purpose.

COURSE EVALUATIONS AND STUDENT FEEDBACK

Student feedback will be sought at the end of the course through the standard University Student Ratings of Instruction (USRI) and Faculty course evaluation forms.

A midterm evaluation may also be included to provide students an opportunity to provide feedback, for the instructor to adjust their approaches to teaching and learning, and to continuously improve the course. Students are welcome to discuss the process and content of the course at any time with the instructor.
