Course Description:

This course will explore the developing field of Place Studies and its application within Christian Origins and Late Antiquity Christianity. Place Studies is an interdisciplinary field that embraces: Human and Cultural Geography; Philosophy; Social Theory; Gender Studies; Cultural Studies; Planning; Architecture and Material Culture. In its most simplistic expression, it is the concern with the creation of place; this creation results from the dialogue between landscape, human action, and meaning-making. Specifically, this course will explore the utilization of Place Studies within the socio-historical reconstruction of early Christianity.

Outcomes:

The course is intended to develop specific core competencies and skills. These will include: 1) critical and creative thinking/reasoning, 2) problem solving, 3) interpreting information, 4) awareness and ability to deal with diversity, 5) responding critically to both primary and secondary materials, 6) creating knowledge from information, 7) communication skills and 8) persuading and influencing others. The seminar format of the course means students will be interactive participants in the presentation of the course material and they will engage in one major research project. One of the major elements of the course will be the analysis of the symbiotic relationship between various research questions and methodological approaches. Finally, this course is coordinated with a 400 level undergraduate course that is focused on the same material. Graduate students will be required to interact with the undergraduate as mentors; this is designed to develop specific skills required in terms of teaching and presenting research in a public educational context.

The adherence to deadlines is taken as a serious requirement and responsibility of the students in this course. There will be no Registrar scheduled final examination in this course.

Grading

A letter grade will be assigned to each component of the course according to the University's Graduate Studies Calendar 2011-2012:

- A+ 4.0: Outstanding
- A 4.0: Excellent – superior performance showing comprehensive understanding of the subject matter
- A- 3.7: Very good performance
- B+ 3.3: Good performance

- B 3.0: Satisfactory performance Note: The grade point value (3.0) associated with this grade is the minimum acceptable average that a graduate student must maintain throughout the program as computed at the end of each registration anniversary year of the program.
- B- 2.7: Minimum pass for students in the Faculty of Graduate Studies Note: A student who receives a B- or lower in two or more courses will be required to withdraw regardless of their grade point average unless the program recommends otherwise. Individual programs may require a higher minimum passing grade.
- C+ 2.3
- C 2.0
- C- 1.7
- D+ 1.3
- D 1.0
- F 0.0: All grades below B- are indicative of failure at the graduate level and cannot be counted toward Faculty of Graduate Studies course requirements. A student who receives a grade of F will normally be required to withdraw unless the program recommends otherwise.

Recording of lectures:
