Book(s) on Reserve:

- Ashenfelter, Orley and Richard Layard (eds.), Handbook of Labour Economics, Vols. 1 and 2, North-Holland, latest edition.
- Ehrenberg, R. and R. Smith, Modern Labour Economics, Scott, Foresman, latest edition.
- Gunderson, Morley and Craig Riddell, Labour Market Economics, McGraw-Hill Ryerson, latest edition.
- McConnell, Campbell and Stanley Brue, Contemporary Labour Economics, McGraw-Hill, latest edition.

Course Outline:

This course has two components: first, its primary focus is the economics of earnings. Second, it is one of the courses that has been designated by the Economics Department to introduce students to the fundamentals of writing and bibliographic research.

1. Economics of Earnings

Labour economics can roughly be divided into two elements: the determination of earnings; and the supply of labour. This course deals with the former; Economics 431 with the latter.

This is a course in applied microeconomics. Its purpose is to investigate the determination of wage rates and annual incomes. We will begin by reviewing a number of theories of the demand for labour, including: neoclassical, institutional, segmented labour market, and radical/Marxian theories.

We will then discuss the demand for labour by employee-managed firms and government agencies; and we will conclude with an analysis of a number of specific issues in the theory of wage determination, including: the effects of family background on adult earnings, sex discrimination, trade unions, and government programs to redistribute income.

The chapters to be covered in the textbook are: 9 - 17.

2. Writing and Bibliographic Research

In this course, an emphasis will be placed on writing and researching skills. Some of the topics to be discussed include:

- The writing process: generating ideas; writing initial drafts; making global revisions.
- Organizational conventions: the paragraph; the three-part essay; specific genres such as op-ed articles, theoretical or survey papers in economics.
- Research papers: conducting research; evaluating sources; identifying and supporting a thesis; managing information and avoiding plagiarism; using and documenting sources; formatting the manuscript.
- Common errors: working for clarity; correcting sentence and grammatical errors.
- Argumentation and critical thinking: understanding the nature of rational argument (claim and reasons); seeking out and analyzing alternative views; shaping an argument around thesis and support.

Grade Determination and Final Examination Details:

Assignment or Exam	Due Date	Weight
Written work
• Proposed research topic	January 23	(Required)
• Bibliographic research	February 6	10%
• Motivation exercise	March 4	10%
• Term paper (draft)	March 27	10%
• Term paper (final)	April 11	20%
Examinations
• Mid-term	March 13	20%
• Final	Registrar	30%
Other important dates
• Reading week	February 15-23
• Good Friday	April 18
• Last day of classes	April 14

To calculate your final letter grade I will sum your marks on your mid-term exam, writing assignments, and final exam, to get a mark out of 100.

Tests and final exams are marked on a numerical (percentage) basis, then converted to letter grades. The course grade is then calculated using the weights indicated above. As a guide to determining standing, these letter grade equivalences will apply:

A+	90 - 100	B	73.5 - 76.4	C-	60 - 63.4
A	83 - 89.9	B-	70 - 73.4	D	56.5 - 59.9
A-	80 - 82.9	C+	66.5 - 69.9	D	50 - 56.4
B+	76.5 - 79.9	C	63.5 - 66.4	F	0 - 49.9

A passing grade on any particular component of the course is not required for a student to pass the course as a whole.

Non-programmable calculators will be allowed during the writing of tests or final examinations.

There will be a Registrar scheduled final examination, lasting 2 hours.

Tests and exams WILL NOT involve multiple choice questions.

Notes:

- Students seeking reappraisal of a piece of graded term work (term paper, essay, etc.) should discuss their work with the Instructor within fifteen days of the work being returned to the class.
- If you find it necessary to miss a midterm test, you must notify me in advance and produce a physician's certificate or other documentation as soon as possible. Deferred tests will not be offered. The weight attached to the missed test will be moved to the final exam.
- Blackboard: This course will make use of Blackboard - students who are registered in the course can log on at <http://blackboard.ucalgary.ca/webapps/login> . Please note that Blackboard features a class e-mail list that I will use. It is your responsibility to ensure that Blackboard uses the e-mail address of your choice; and that the e-mail address recorded by the Registrar is correct.
- It is the student's responsibility to request academic accommodations. If you are a student with a documented disability who may require academic accommodation and have not registered with the Disability Resource Centre, please contact their office at 220-8237. Students who have not registered with the Disability Resource Centre are not eligible for formal academic accommodation. You are also required to discuss your needs with your instructor no later than fourteen (14) days after the start of this course.
