Textbook(s):

Course Outline:

The objectives of this course are:

- To apply empirical and theoretical skills that you have acquired and developed from core curriculum courses in the Dept. of Economics
- To develop your research skills and written communication skills, continuing with the research initiated with EC611.55.
- Where possible (or if you are lucky enough), to produce original results that contribute to our understanding of economics

Grade Determination and Final Examination Details:

The final grade will be based on the elements and weights below:

Writing assignment	70%
Oral Presentation	30%
Total	100%

Tests and final exams are marked on a numerical (percentage) basis, and then converted to letter grades. The course grade is then calculated using the weights indicated above. As a guide to determining standing, the university letter grade equivalences will generally apply:

Note:

- Students seeking reappraisal of a piece of graded term work (term paper, essay, etc.) should discuss their work with the Instructor within 7 days of the work being returned to the class.
- It is the student's responsibility to request academic accommodations. If you are a student with a documented disability who may require academic accommodation and have not registered with the Disability Resource Centre, please contact their office at 220-8237. Students who have not registered with the Disability Resource Centre are not eligible for formal academic accommodation. In the Department of Economics, we recommend that all students enrolled in the Spring/Summer session, should discuss their needs with the instructor of the course no later than seven (7) days after the start of this course.
