Assignments and Evaluation:

Descriptive essay (500 words): 10%

Expository essay (750 words): 15%

Analytical essay (1000 words): 20%

Peer-review assignment (x3): 15%

Participation: 15%

Final exam: 25%

Participation:

Students will be assigned to a team of 3-4 students after the add/drop date has passed. Teams will be responsible for submitting weekly in-class activities, marked for completion and signed by all present group members. The parameters for each activity, and the assigned roles contained within, will be explained in class on the day of each activity. Students will not receive prior notice of when these activities will take place. There are twelve in-class activities, each worth 1.5%. The two lowest scores will be dropped.

Descriptive essay (worth 10% of final grade): The descriptive essay assignment asks students to employ the practice of close reading to describe a particular concept from one of our course readings. Further instruction will be provided in class.

Expository essay (worth 15% of final grade):

The expository essay assignment asks students to investigate a particular idea, explain this idea using evidence, and build an argument about this idea based on their chosen evidence. Further instruction will be provided in class.

Analytical essay (worth 20% of final grade):

The analytical essay combines processes practiced in the descriptive and expository assignments. Students will offer an in-depth analysis of a specific topic, employing the practices of close reading and academic research to develop an argumentative essay. Further instruction will be provided in class.

Peer-review assignment x3 (worth 15% of final grade, or 5% each):

After receiving feedback from the course instructor on each of the descriptive, expository, and analytical essays, students will work in pairs to conduct an in-class peer review assignment of each other's work. Elements of good peer review and the parameters of each peer-review assignment will be discussed in detail in class.

Please be advised that within this course, you will have the opportunity to volunteer as a research participant in a study that examines the use and effectiveness of peer-review for undergraduate students as they work through first-year writing assignments. Details will be provided at the start of the course.

Final Exam, scheduled by the Registrar (worth 25% of final grade):

There will be a registrar-scheduled final exam for this course. Students must be available for examinations up to and including the last day of the examination period (April 16-April 26, 2018).

Students do not need to submit all assignments to receive a passing grade in this course.

There will be no extra credit assignments for this course.

Students are required to submit all assignments electronically via the D2L dropbox prior to the beginning of class (8:59am) on the indicated due date. Instruction on how to submit assignments through D2L will be provided in class.

Assignments submitted after the deadline will be penalized with the loss of a third of a letter grade (A- to B+) for each business day (not class) that the assignment is overdue. No assignments will be accepted one week past the assignment deadline without prior consent of the instructor.

It is your responsibility to keep a copy of all assignments in case of loss by any cause. Assignments cannot be returned by staff in the Department office.

Grading system:

The University of Calgary's four-point Grading System, as described in the Calendar (<http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/f-2.html>), will be used in this course.

A+ / A (4.0); A- (3.7); B+ (3.3); B (3.0); B- (2.7); C+ (2.3); C (2.0); C- (1.7); D+ (1.3); D (1.0); F (0)

Please note that, according to the University Calendar (F.1), instructors may use their discretion when rounding upwards or downwards when the average of term work and exams is between two letter grades.

Although the A+ is solely an honorific that entails no additional points in the four-point system, the course instructor will employ this mark to distinguish superlative work that exceeds expectations in style, correctness, intellectual depth and breadth, sophistication, and originality.

In this course, all assignments will be assigned a numerical grade, to be converted using the following scale:

90 + %	A+	4.0
85 – 89 %	A	4.0
80 – 84 %	A–	3.7
77 – 79 %	B+	3.3
74 – 76 %	B	3.0
70 – 73 %	B–	2.7
67 – 69 %	C+	2.3
64 – 66 %	C	2.0
60 – 63 %	C–	1.7
55 – 59 %	D+	1.3
50 – 54 %	D	1.0
0 – 49 %	F	0

PLAGIARISM

Plagiarism is an extremely serious offence. Please read the following information carefully. The penalty routinely recommended by the English Department for documented plagiarism is failure of the course in which the offence occurred; academic probation is also routinely applied at the Faculty level. Suspension or expulsion can result from severe or repeated plagiarism.

The University Calendar states:

1. Plagiarism - Essentially plagiarism involves submitting or presenting work in a course as if it were the student's own work done expressly for that particular course when, in fact, it is not. Most commonly plagiarism exists when:

- (a) the work submitted or presented was done, in whole or in part, by an individual other than the one submitting or presenting the work (this includes having another impersonate the student or otherwise substituting the work of another for one's own in an examination or test),
- (b) parts of the work are taken from another source without reference to the original author,
- (c) the whole work (e.g., an essay) is copied from another source, and/or,
- (d) a student submits or presents work in one course which has also been submitted in another course (although it may be completely original with that student) without the knowledge of or prior agreement of the instructor involved.

While it is recognized that scholarly work often involves reference to the ideas, data and conclusions of other scholars, intellectual honesty requires that such references be explicitly and clearly noted.

Plagiarism occurs when direct quotations are taken from a source without specific acknowledgement, or when original ideas or data from the source are not acknowledged. Citing your sources in a bibliography is not enough, because a bibliography does not establish which parts of a student's work are taken from other sources. MLA (Modern Language Association) documentation or other recognized forms of citation must be used for this purpose. Advice on adequate documentation can be found at the following web sites:

DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH STATEMENT ON PRINCIPLES OF CONDUCT

According to the University Calendar, <http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/j.html>

“The University of Calgary community has undertaken to be guided by the following statements of purpose and values: to promote free inquiry and debate, to act as a community of scholars, . . . , to respect, appreciate, and encourage diversity, [and] to display care and concern for community”. The Department of English, like the university as a whole, is committed to a “positive and productive learning and working environment.” This environment is characterized by appreciation and encouragement of diversity and respect for the dignity of all persons: students, support staff, and faculty. The department will not tolerate unacceptable behaviour, such as threatening gestures, threatening or abusive verbal or written communication (including e-mails), or any conduct that “seriously disrupts the lawful education and related activities of students and/or university staff”. Any cases of such misconduct should be reported immediately to the department Head, who, depending on the nature and severity of the incident, may then take further appropriate action.
