There is no Registrar's scheduled exam in this course.

Students must complete all assignments in order to receive a passing grade in this course.

Students must submit assignments in HARD COPY in class on the due date.

Late assignments must be submitted to the Department of English, SS 1152 and put it in the dropbox; your assignment will be date-stamped and placed in the instructor's mailbox.

Late essays will be penalized at the rate of one third of a letter grade per day of lateness (including both Saturdays and Sundays). Thus, if you hand in a paper one day late and it is a B graded essay, the grade will be reduced to B-. It is your responsibility to keep a copy of all assignments in case of loss by any cause.

The following grading system is used in this course:

University of Calgary's official grading system

A+/A (4.0); A- (3.7); B+ (3.3); B (3.0); B- (2.7); C+ (2.3); C (2.0); C- (1.7); D+ (1.3); D (1.0); F (0)

Laptop Policy Laptop computers will be allowed in class only if you use them to take notes or to follow along with classroom demonstrations. Those who cause a distraction by using them for any other purpose will have this privilege withdrawn.

Email Policy I am happy to reply to short, specific questions via e-mail, and will answer as promptly as possible. However, I cannot guarantee that you will have a reply within any specific amount of time. If you have detailed questions on the course material it is more appropriate to visit me during my office hours or by appointment. Email should not be seen as an alternative to meeting with the instructor during office hours. Nor should email be used as a mechanism to receive private tutorials (especially prior to tests) or to explain material that was covered in lectures you missed. Please make sure you consult the course syllabus and other handouts before submitting queries by email.

Plagiarism:

Using any source whatsoever without clearly documenting it is a serious academic offense. PLAGIARISM

Plagiarism is an extremely serious offence. Please read the following information carefully. The penalty routinely recommended by the English Department for documented plagiarism is failure of the course in which the offence occurred; academic probation is also routinely applied at the Faculty level. Suspension or expulsion can result from severe or repeated plagiarism.

The University Calendar states:

1. Plagiarism - Essentially plagiarism involves submitting or presenting work in a course as if it were the student's own work done expressly for that particular course when, in fact, it is not. Most commonly plagiarism exists when:

- (a) the work submitted or presented was done, in whole or in part, by an individual other than the one submitting or presenting the work (this includes having another impersonate the student or otherwise substituting the work of another for one's own in an examination or test),
- (b) parts of the work are taken from another source without reference to the original author,
- (c) the whole work (e.g., an essay) is copied from another source, and/or,
- (d) a student submits or presents work in one course which has also been submitted in another course (although it may be completely original with that student) without the knowledge of or prior agreement of the instructor involved.

While it is recognized that scholarly work often involves reference to the ideas, data and conclusions of other scholars, intellectual honesty requires that such references be explicitly and clearly noted.

Plagiarism occurs when direct quotations are taken from a source without specific acknowledgement, or when original ideas or data from the source are not acknowledged. Citing your sources in a bibliography is not enough, because a bibliography does not establish which parts of a student's work are taken from other sources. MLA (Modern Language Association) documentation or other recognized forms of citation must be used for this purpose. Advice on adequate documentation can be found at the following web sites:

DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH STATEMENT ON PRINCIPLES OF CONDUCT

According to the University Calendar, (<http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/j.html>)

“The University of Calgary community has undertaken to be guided by the following statements of purpose and values: to promote free inquiry and debate, to act as a community of scholars, . . . , to respect, appreciate, and encourage diversity, [and] to display care and concern for community”. The Department of English, like the university as a whole, is committed to a “positive and productive learning and working environment.” This environment is characterized by appreciation and encouragement of diversity and respect for the dignity of all persons: students, support staff, and faculty. The department will not tolerate unacceptable behaviour, such as threatening gestures, threatening or abusive verbal or written communication (including e-mails), or any conduct that “seriously disrupts the lawful education and related activities of students and/or university staff”. Any cases of such misconduct should be reported immediately to the department Head, who, depending on the nature and severity of the incident, may then take further appropriate action.
