2.0	C	64-66%	Satisfactory - basic understanding of the subject matter.
1.7	C-	60-63%
1.3	D+	55-59%
1.0	D	50-54%	Minimal pass - marginal performance; generally insufficient preparation for subsequent courses in the same subject.

Note that F (0-49%) is zero.

In class I will show you how final course grades are calculated using letter grades and gpa.

Please Note:

1. I welcome questions. If you have any questions at all, do please ask.
2. You must complete all the assignments and exams in order to be eligible for a passing grade in this course.
3. Please submit your assignments to me punctually at the beginning of the class in which they are due. If for some reason you are unable to deliver them to me in class, please deliver them to the English Department office (11th floor Social Sciences) where they will be date stamped before they are delivered to my mailbox. The office closes at 4:30 p.m. each day; papers delivered to the drop box after this time will be date stamped the next business day.
4. Please keep a copy of your essays in case of loss by any cause.
5. I will give you plenty of notice for each assignment. I only give extensions to the class as a whole, or to individuals in exceptional circumstances.
6. The penalty for late papers is half a letter grade for each day (not class) that the paper is overdue. For example, an A paper due on Tuesday and submitted on Friday will be assigned a grade of B. I do not mark papers overdue by seven or more days: I simply assign a grade of F. (Note that an assignment not completed before this period must still be submitted --- see 2. above).
7. I do not accept assignments electronically and only return assignments in class.
8. I have zero tolerance for plagiarism (Latin, 'plagiarius', kidnapper, literary thief). Using any source whatsoever without clear documentation is a serious academic offense, one that I do not tolerate. The consequences to you include failure on the assignment, failure in the course and possible suspension or expulsion from the university. We will discuss this in the first class on essay writing. Please read the attached statement on plagiarism.

PLAGIARISM

Plagiarism is an extremely serious offence. Please read the following information carefully. The penalty routinely recommended by the English Department for documented plagiarism is failure of the course in which the offence occurred; academic probation is also routinely applied at the Faculty level. Suspension or expulsion can result from severe or repeated plagiarism.

The University Calendar states:

1. Plagiarism - Essentially plagiarism involves submitting or presenting work in a course as if it were the student's own work done expressly for that particular course when, in fact, it is not. Most commonly plagiarism exists when:

- (a) the work submitted or presented was done, in whole or in part, by an individual other than the one submitting or presenting the work (this includes having another impersonate the student or otherwise substituting the work of another for one's own in an examination or test),
- (b) parts of the work are taken from another source without reference to the original author,
- (c) the whole work (e.g., an essay) is copied from another source, and/or,
- (d) a student submits or presents work in one course which has also been submitted in another course (although it may be completely original with that student) without the knowledge of or prior agreement of the instructor involved.

While it is recognized that scholarly work often involves reference to the ideas, data and conclusions of other scholars, intellectual honesty requires that such references be explicitly and clearly noted.

Plagiarism occurs when direct quotations are taken from a source without specific acknowledgement, or when original ideas or data from the source are not acknowledged. Citing your sources in a bibliography is not enough, because a bibliography does not establish which parts of a student's work are taken from other sources. MLA (Modern Language Association) documentation or other recognized forms of citation must be used for this purpose. Advice on adequate documentation can be found at the following web sites:

DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH STATEMENT ON PRINCIPLES OF CONDUCT

According to the University Calendar,

<http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/j.html>

“The University of Calgary community has undertaken to be guided by the following statements of purpose and values: to promote free inquiry and debate, to act as a community of scholars, . . . , to respect, appreciate, and encourage diversity, [and] to display care and concern for community”. The Department of English, like the university as a whole, is committed to a “positive and productive learning and working environment.” This environment is characterized by appreciation and encouragement of diversity and respect for the dignity of all persons: students, support staff, and faculty. The department will not tolerate unacceptable behaviour, such as threatening gestures, threatening or abusive verbal or written communication (including e-mails), or any conduct that “seriously disrupts the lawful education and related activities of students and/or university staff”.

Any cases of such misconduct should be reported immediately to the department Head, who, depending on the nature and severity of the incident, may then take further appropriate action.
