

FACULTY OF ARTS
DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH
COURSE OUTLINE

ENGLISH 413-01

Winter Term 2015

COURSE TITLE: Seventeenth-Century Drama

Instructor: Dr. Susan Bennett

Office: SS1038

Phone: 403-220-6450

E-mail: sbennett@ucalgary.ca

Office hours: Tuesdays 2-3. Students are also welcome to arrange appointments on other days/times by prior arrangement via email.

Course description: A survey of drama from 1603 to 1660, including William Shakespeare and Ben Jonson. Pre-requisites: English 302 and either 240 or 340. Anti-requisite: Not open to students with credit in English 414.

Taking Shakespeare's The Tempest as a starting point, this course will look at selections from the rich range of seventeenth-century drama concerned with colonial expansion and the intercultural encounter. Students will examine different types of dramatic form developed for the variety of spaces of London performance, and will think through the impacts of this work for understanding the social, political and economic issues of the period.

Texts and readings:

The following texts are required:

Ben Jonson, Masques of Difference: Four Court Masques (ed. By Kristen McDermott, Revels Student Editions, 2007).

John Fletcher, The Island Princess (ed. Clare McManus, Arden Early Modern Drama series, 2013).

Philip Massinger, The Renegado (ed. Michael Neill, Arden Early Modern Drama series, 2010).

You may use any edition of Shakespeare's The Tempest including the version available online at MIT:
<http://shakespeare.mit.edu/tempest/>

Assignments and Evaluation:

There will be four assignments in this class: two short papers (each 350-400 words, providing key background information for in-class discussion), each worth 15% of the final grade; a mid-term test written in class, worth 25% of the final grade; and a research paper of 3500-4000 words, worth 45% of the final grade.

There will be no Registrar scheduled final exam in this class. Students must complete all assignments in order to receive a passing grade on the course.

Assignment Submission and Late Assignment Policy:

Papers will be submitted electronically to D2L. Late assignments will be penalized at a rate of one third of a letter grade per day of lateness (including Saturdays and Sundays). If a paper is handed in a day late, for example, a B essay will have the grade reduced to B-.

It is the student's responsibility to keep a copy of all assignments in case of loss by any cause.

Grading system:

The University of Calgary's four-point Undergraduate Grading System, as described in the Calendar (<http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/f-2.html>), will be used in this course.

A+/A (4.0); A- (3.7); B+ (3.3); B (3.0); B- (2.7); C+ (2.3); C (2.0); C- (1.7); D+ (1.3); D (1.0); F (0)

Please note that, according to the University Calendar (F.1), instructors may use their discretion when rounding upwards or downwards when the average of term work and exams is between two letter grades. Although the A+ is solely an honorific that entails no additional points in the four-point system, the course instructor will employ this mark to distinguish superlative work that exceeds expectations in style, correctness, intellectual depth and breadth, sophistication, and originality.

Use of Electronic Devices:

Students are welcome to use laptops and other electronic devices in support of learning and for specific instructor-led tasks in the classroom. Any student found to be using a device for non-academic purposes will be asked to switch off that device and stow it away from their desk (e.g. in a backpack).

Plagiarism:

Using any source whatsoever without clearly documenting it is a serious academic offense. Consequences include failure on the assignment, failure in the course and possible suspension or expulsion from the university. Please refer to the following information and make sure you are familiar with the statement below on plagiarism.

Universal Student Ratings of Instruction (USRI):

"At the University of Calgary, feedback provided by students through the Universal Student Ratings of Instruction (USRI) survey provides valuable information to help with evaluating instruction, enhancing learning and teaching, and selecting courses (www.ucalgary.ca/usri). Your responses make a difference - please participate in USRI Surveys."

PLAGIARISM

Plagiarism is an extremely serious offence. Please read the following information carefully. The penalty routinely recommended by the English Department for documented plagiarism is failure of the course in which the offence occurred; academic probation is also routinely applied at the Faculty level. Suspension or expulsion can result from severe or repeated plagiarism.

The University Calendar states:

1. Plagiarism - Essentially plagiarism involves submitting or presenting work in a course as if it were the student's own work done expressly for that particular course when, in fact, it is not. Most commonly plagiarism exists when:

- (a) the work submitted or presented was done, in whole or in part, by an individual other than the one submitting or presenting the work (this includes having another impersonate the student or otherwise substituting the work of another for one's own in an examination or test),
- (b) parts of the work are taken from another source without reference to the original author,
- (c) the whole work (e.g., an essay) is copied from another source, and/or,
- (d) a student submits or presents work in one course which has also been submitted in another course (although it may be completely original with that student) without the knowledge of or prior agreement of the instructor involved.

While it is recognized that scholarly work often involves reference to the ideas, data and conclusions of other scholars, intellectual honesty requires that such references be explicitly and clearly noted.

Plagiarism occurs when direct quotations are taken from a source without specific acknowledgement, or when original ideas or data from the source are not acknowledged. Citing your sources in a bibliography is not enough, because a bibliography does not establish which parts of a student's work are taken from other sources. MLA (Modern Language Association) documentation or other recognized forms of citation must be used for this purpose. Advice on adequate documentation can be found at the following web sites:

DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH STATEMENT ON PRINCIPLES OF CONDUCT

According to the University Calendar, (<http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/j.html>) "The University of Calgary community has undertaken to be guided by the following statements of purpose and values: to promote free inquiry and debate, to act as a community of scholars, ..., to respect, appreciate, and encourage diversity, [and] to display care and concern for community". The Department of English, like the university as a whole, is committed to a "positive and productive learning and working environment." This environment is characterized by appreciation and encouragement of diversity and respect for the dignity of all persons: students, support staff, and faculty. The department will not tolerate unacceptable behaviour, such as threatening gestures, threatening or abusive verbal or written communication (including e-mails), or any conduct that "seriously disrupts the lawful education and related activities of students and/or university staff". Any cases of such misconduct should be reported immediately to the department Head, who, depending on the nature and severity of the incident, may then take further appropriate action.
