Course description:

This course will introduce the scholarly study of comic books in the United States, with a particular focus on the period commonly referred to as “the Golden Age”, roughly 1934 to 1960. Students will study the major genres of the period in an effort to historicize the rapid development of a new publishing format: the comic book.

Course learning outcomes:

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. Demonstrate a knowledge of the early history of the comic book in the United States
2. Demonstrate an understanding of the formal properties of comics
3. Demonstrate an understanding of the way formal change occurs in media industries
4. Demonstrate an understanding of how media industries challenge and support authorial understandings of culture

Texts and readings:

As this course will focus on comic books in the public domain, there is no required textbook for this course.

Readings from scholarly journals are accessible online through the University of Calgary library. A complete list of readings will be provided in the first class.

Assignments and Evaluation:

Newsstand Project (20% of final grade). Due January 31-March 23, depending on sign up. Students will be randomly assigned a single month from a single year (1940-1952 inclusive) and should examine as many comic books from that month as are locatable online (ComicBookPlus.com or DigitalComicMuseum.com). Reports should focus on the range of commonalities and differences across the randomly assigned works. Students should consider to what degree we could plausibly make an argument for the presence or absence of authorial voice (whether at the individual or corporate level) by noting strong similarities and differences in the works. The written report on the comics available on the newsstand in the given month should be six to eight pages in length.

Projects should be uploaded to the appropriate Dropbox for the course on D2L by 9:00am on the day that they are due.

Presentation of Newsstand Project (20% of final grade). Due Date Same as Project Itself.

Students will prepare a SHORT (no longer than five minutes) presentation of the key findings of their Newsstand Project and will present it at the beginning of the class for that day. Given enrolment, there may be as many as three presentations per day, so students may choose to coordinate their efforts so as not to duplicate each other's work. Presentations saved as PowerPoints should be uploaded to the D2L site by 9:00am on the day of the presentation so that they are ready to go at the beginning of class time. Students will also be responsible for responding to questions and comments from their peers about their findings.

Presentation Feedback (throughout the term; 20% of final grade). All students are expected to provide a substantive feedback (NO MORE THAN 150 words of writing) for each of the presentations made in class. This feedback should be constructive, and it will be used as the basis for the feedback prepared for your classmates. Presentations will occur in fourteen class sessions and you are not expected to contribute on the day that you present. Feedback will be marked Pass/Fail and ten Passing grades will equal full marks on this portion of the class (allowing you to be absent without notice on three occasions). Feedback should be uploaded to D2L within twenty-four hours of the completion of the class session.

Final Project Due 11 April 2023. (40% of final grade). The final project can be an essay (8 – 10 pages) or take on another form (film, data set, creative project). If a student opts to proceed with a project that is not an essay, this should be discussed with the professor so that the project can be calibrated as representing an equivalent amount of work as the paper.

- There is no Registrar scheduled exam for this course. There are no extra-credit assignments for this course. You do not need to complete all assignments to receive a passing grade in this course.
- Assignments submitted after the deadline will be graded with no loss of marks, but will receive no written comments.

Attendance and participation expectations:

There are no attendance and participation expectations beyond the feedback assignment discussed above.

Conduct:

Students, employees, and academic staff are also expected to demonstrate behaviour in class that promotes and maintains a positive and productive learning environment. As members of the University community, students, employees, and academic staff are expected to demonstrate conduct that is consistent with the University of Calgary Calendar, the Code of Conduct and Non-Academic Misconduct policy and procedures, which can be found at:

<http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/k.html>

Policy on use of electronic devices:

The use of laptop and mobile devices is acceptable when used in a manner appropriate to the course and classroom activities. Please refrain from accessing websites and resources that may be distracting to you or for other learners during class time. Students are responsible for being aware of the University's Internet and email use policy, which can be found at

<https://www.ucalgary.ca/policies/files/policies/electronic-communications-policy.pdf>

- Grading system:

The University of Calgary's four-point Grading System, as described in the Calendar;) will be used in this course. <https://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/f-1-1.html>

A+/A (4.0); A- (3.7); B+ (3.3); B (3.0); B- (2.7); C+ (2.3); C (2.0); C- (1.7); D+ (1.3); D (1.0); F (0)

Any final grades that end in a point 5 (.5) will be rounded up to the next whole number before being converted to a letter grade (A, B, C, etc.) using the table above

Academic Integrity:

This course, like all courses at the University of Calgary, holds students to high standards of honest and responsible scholarship. Please consult the Academic Integrity website for a detailed description of university policies, which will be enforced in this course. Cases of suspected academic misconduct will be referred to the Associate Dean of Arts for a ruling.

Plagiarism is a type of academic misconduct. Plagiarism occurs when a student presents the ideas, expression of ideas, or work of another person as their own. Another equally serious form of plagiarism occurs when a student submits something they have written themselves for credit in two or more courses without first securing written permission from all those course instructors. Consequences for plagiarism include failure on the assignment, failure in the course, and possible suspension or expulsion from the university. Using any source whatsoever without clearly documenting it is a serious academic offense.

Deferral of term work and final examinations:

Should you require an extension for completion of term papers or assignments beyond the deadline of five days after the end of lectures, an Application of Deferment of Term Work must be completed. It is the student's responsibility to initiate this process with the instructor. The University also has regulations governing the deferral of final examinations.

Grade appeals:

To pursue a Reassessment of Graded Term Work or a Reappraisal of an Academic Assessment, Consult the University Calendar and request advice from the English Department at engl@ucalgary.ca. Please note that mere dissatisfaction with a grade is not sufficient grounds for an appeal.
