463: AMERICAN LITERATURE FROM THE LATE 1800S TO THE MID-1900s

Course Description

This course offers a broad survey of American literature and culture from the end of the Civil War to the Great Depression. We will read both canonical and lesser-known works, remaining attentive to the historical contexts in which texts were written. Although this list is by no means exhaustive and will expand according to student interests, I expect some of the issues addressed in this course will include the following: the characteristics, development, and historical contexts of realism and modernism; changing and competing notions of individual and national identity in modern America; the relationships between the dominant national culture and minority cultures; the role of literature in negotiating cultural change; and the changing ideologies of gender, race, ethnicity, class, and sexuality in the United States.

Prerequisites: ENGL 302 and either ENGL 240 or 340.

Required Texts

Henry James, The American
Mark Twain, A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court
Ernest Hemingway, In Our Time
Nella Larsen, Passing
Meridel Le Sueur, The Girl
Course Pack (available at Bound and Copied)

Course Requirements

Percentage of Final Grade

Essay 1 (5 pages) .....	20%
Essay 2 (8-10 pages) .....	40%
Reading Responses .....	10%
Presentation/Discussion Facilitation .....	10%
Registrar-scheduled Final Exam .....	20%

Students must be available for examinations up to the last day of the examination period (Dec. 9-19, 2013).

Grading System

You must complete all written work and the final exam to qualify for a passing grade. All assignments will be marked with letter grades. Explanations of my grading criteria are available on Blackboard and on assignments.

Grade conversions on the University of Calgary's 4-point system are as follows:

A+/A = 4.0	B = 3.0	C = 2.0	D = 1.0
A- = 3.7	B- = 2.7	C- = 1.7	F = 0
B+ = 3.3	C+ = 2.3	D+ = 1.3

Please note that, according to the University Calendar (F.1), instructors may use their discretion when rounding upwards or downwards when the average of term work and exams is between two letter grades.

Although the A+ is solely an honorific that entails no additional points in the 4-point system, I will employ this mark to distinguish superlative work that exceeds expectations in intellectual depth and breadth, sophistication, originality, and style.

About Reading Responses

You will contribute to an ongoing, on-line discussion of our readings for three of the assigned readings. Reading responses must be posted to the discussion board on Blackboard by noon the day before class discussion. You may choose which of the eligible readings you wish to respond to. Contributions may take several forms: 2-3 thought-provoking questions to spark discussion; a response to a posted question; a response to or elaboration on a previous response; an analysis of an assigned text; a summary and/or critique of a published analysis of an assigned text; a personal response; or some combination of the above. With the exception of the first kind (the questions), reading responses should be about 300 words in length. More information about reading responses is available on Blackboard.

About Class Presentations

Working in groups of three or four, you will be responsible for presenting on assigned readings or leading class discussion. Presentations or discussions may take many forms. You may present historical and contextual material on our readings, summarize published scholarship, offer your own analysis of a text(s), ask questions and lead discussion, design a group activity, or combine several of these things. Student-led presentations will last approximately 30 minutes. I will pass around a sign-up sheet on the first day of class so that you may choose the readings you wish to help facilitate. More information is available on Blackboard.

About Class Participation

Because this is a class that will demand considerable participation, your effort and involvement are essential to a successful learning experience (not only for you, but for your classmates). You should come to class with all necessary materials and prepared to take part in workshops, to participate actively in small- and large-group discussions, to offer considered responses to assigned readings, and to respond respectfully and thoughtfully to other students' ideas. A good way to gauge your level of participation is to ask yourself, "How would this class function if everyone participated exactly as much as I do?"

Late Papers

You have the option of turning in one written assignment up to a week late without penalty. This policy applies to the first essay and the reading responses. Class presentations may not be completed late, and the final essay may be turned in late only with permission. If you turn in an assignment more than a week late, or if you turn in a second assignment late, your grade on the work will be lowered by a third of a grade for each late day (i.e., an A paper that is one day late will receive an A-, two days late a B+, and so on; weekend days and holidays are counted in this total).

Turning in Assignments

Assignments should be submitted through the digital dropbox on Blackboard. If this is not possible, you may deliver your assignment to Social Sciences 1152 and put it in the drop box, where your work will be date-stamped and placed in my mailbox. Please keep a copy of your assignment in case of loss. Papers cannot be returned by staff in the department office. Papers may not be delivered by email without prior permission.

Students with Disabilities

I will be happy to make appropriate accommodations for students with disabilities. Please contact me during my office hours and coordinate with Student Accessibility Services (220-6019) if you have a disability that requires some modification of seating, evaluation, or other class requirements. Students who have not registered with Student Accessibility Services are not eligible for formal academic accommodation. Please make requests for accommodation within fourteen (14) days after the commencement of the course. A link to Student Accessibility Services is provided below www.ualgary.ca/access.

Student's Guide to the Presentation of Essays

The English Department offers useful information about expectations for student essays at the following website. (Note that some of the information is outdated. The documentation rules are not consistent with the most recent MLA guidelines.) <http://www.ualgary.ca/UofC/eduweb/grammar/guide.htm>

Plagiarism:

Using any source whatsoever without clearly documenting it is a serious academic offense. Consequences include failure on the assignment, failure in the course and possible suspension or expulsion from the university. Please refer to the following information and make sure you are familiar with the statement below on plagiarism.

PLAGIARISM

Plagiarism is an extremely serious offence. Please read the following information carefully. The penalty routinely recommended by the English Department for documented plagiarism is failure of the course in which the offence occurred; academic probation is also routinely applied at the Faculty level. Suspension or expulsion can result from severe or repeated plagiarism.

The University Calendar states:

1. Plagiarism - Essentially plagiarism involves submitting or presenting work in a course as if it were the student's own work done expressly for that particular course when, in fact, it is not. Most commonly plagiarism exists when:

- (a) the work submitted or presented was done, in whole or in part, by an individual other than the one submitting or presenting the work (this includes having another impersonate the student or otherwise substituting the work of another for one's own in an examination or test),
- (b) parts of the work are taken from another source without reference to the original author,
- (c) the whole work (e.g., an essay) is copied from another source, and/or,
- (d) a student submits or presents work in one course which has also been submitted in another course (although it may be completely original with that student) without the knowledge of or prior agreement of the instructor involved.

While it is recognized that scholarly work often involves reference to the ideas, data and conclusions of other scholars, intellectual honesty requires that such references be explicitly and clearly noted.

Plagiarism occurs when direct quotations are taken from a source without specific acknowledgement, or when original ideas or data from the source are not acknowledged. Citing your sources in a bibliography is not enough, because a bibliography does not establish which parts of a student's work are taken from other sources. MLA (Modern Language Association) documentation or other recognized forms of citation must be used for this purpose. Advice on adequate documentation can be found at the following web sites:

DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH STATEMENT ON PRINCIPLES OF CONDUCT

According to the University Calendar, (<http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/j.html>)

“The University of Calgary community has undertaken to be guided by the following statements of purpose and values: to promote free inquiry and debate, to act as a community of scholars, ..., to respect, appreciate, and encourage diversity, [and] to display care and concern for community”. The Department of English, like the university as a whole, is committed to a “positive and productive learning and working environment.” This environment is characterized by appreciation and encouragement of diversity and respect for the dignity of all persons: students, support staff, and faculty. The department will not tolerate unacceptable behaviour, such as threatening gestures, threatening or abusive verbal or written communication (including e-mails), or any conduct that “seriously disrupts the lawful education and related activities of students and/or university staff”. Any cases of such misconduct should be reported immediately to the department Head, who, depending on the nature and severity of the incident, may then take further appropriate action.
