COURSE TITLE: Postcolonial Studies: Representing Justice

Instructor: Clara A.B. Joseph

Office: SS1026

Phone: 403-220-4232

E-mail: cjoseph@ucalgary.ca

Office hours: Tuesdays 11:00 to 12:00 or by appointment

Course description: What impact does literary and artistic representation have on issues of social justice and, therefore, on society? What insights do postcolonial studies provide in this regard? What challenges does research in these areas pose for postcolonial studies? These are some fundamental research questions that students will pursue in this course as they draft and develop a research project. The class will take the form of lectures, discussions, and hands-on research. At the end of the course, students will have developed a presentable thesis.

Course pre-requisites: One full-course equivalent in English at the 400 level, or consent of the Department.

Required Texts:

Ashcroft, Bill et. al. Post-Colonial Studies: The Key Concepts. 3rd ed. Routledge, 2013.

Young, Robert C. Postcolonialism: A Very Short Introduction. Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2003.

Additional readings will be assigned based on student projects developed in class. All such readings will be available through the university's library system.

Assignments and Evaluation:

Assignment: a critical response to readings finalized in consultation with the instructor. The assignment will consist of the following:

- a) A 350 word proposal (worth 30%) (due before midnight on Feb 13)
- b) A 30 minute presentation of the essay during the weeks of March 31 and April 7 (worth 10%)
- c) A 3500 word essay based on the proposal (due before midnight on April 10) (worth 45%)

Students will have the opportunity to accomplish the tasks in teams. The presentation should not be a word for word reading of the essay. Instead, the presentation can take creative forms and is the opportunity for the presenter to communicate to as well as engage the class. Mid-term grades are returned normally within two weeks of the assignment due date.

Participation grade is 15%

While marks will be deducted for any distractive behaviour in class, marks will be awarded for the following:

1. Evidence of responsible reading of assigned readings
2. Taking intelligible notes during lectures and discussions

3. Regular and quality submission of in-class assignments.
4. Active and quality participation in discussions and group activities.
5. Successful participation in random quizzes and debates based on lecture material and the readings.
6. Initiative in bringing to the attention of the class relevant popular and academic information.
7. Ability to interact with the class in a professional and enthusiastic manner

NOTE:

All assignments must be completed in order to receive a passing grade on the course.

There will not be a Registrar Scheduled Exam in this course.

Late assignment policy: Assignments submitted after the deadline will be penalized (with the loss of a third of a grade (an A- to B+) for each business day [not class] that the assignment is overdue.

Assignments must be emailed as a Word document to the instructor at cjoseph@ucalgary.ca before midnight of the due date. The file name must be according to the following format: for example, LastnameFirstname_REL348Essay_Sept6-2013. Students must always copy themselves on any assignment emailed to the instructor, and save the item until final results are received from the registrar's office. If in doubt of the procedure, it is the responsibility of the student to check with the instructor well in advance. DO NOT SEND THE ASSIGNMENT TO OR VIA BLACKBOARD

Grading system:

90 + %	A+
85 – 89 %	A
80 – 84 %	A–

PLAGIARISM

Plagiarism is an extremely serious offence. Please read the following information carefully. The penalty routinely recommended by the English Department for documented plagiarism is failure of the course in which the offence occurred; academic probation is also routinely applied at the Faculty level. Suspension or expulsion can result from severe or repeated plagiarism.

The University Calendar states:

1. Plagiarism - Essentially plagiarism involves submitting or presenting work in a course as if it were the student's own work done expressly for that particular course when, in fact, it is not. Most commonly plagiarism exists when:

- (a) the work submitted or presented was done, in whole or in part, by an individual other than the one submitting or presenting the work (this includes having another impersonate the student or otherwise substituting the work of another for one's own in an examination or test),
- (b) parts of the work are taken from another source without reference to the original author,
- (c) the whole work (e.g., an essay) is copied from another source, and/or,
- (d) a student submits or presents work in one course which has also been submitted in another course (although it may be completely original with that student) without the knowledge of or prior agreement of the instructor involved.

While it is recognized that scholarly work often involves reference to the ideas, data and conclusions of other scholars, intellectual honesty requires that such references be explicitly and clearly noted.

Plagiarism occurs when direct quotations are taken from a source without specific acknowledgement, or when original ideas or data from the source are not acknowledged. Citing your sources in a bibliography is not enough, because a bibliography does not establish which parts of a student's work are taken from other sources. MLA (Modern Language Association) documentation or other recognized forms of citation must be used for this purpose. Advice on adequate documentation can be found at the following web sites:

DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH STATEMENT ON PRINCIPLES OF CONDUCT

According to the University Calendar, (<http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/j.html>)

“The University of Calgary community has undertaken to be guided by the following statements of purpose and values: to promote free inquiry and debate, to act as a community of scholars, . . . , to respect, appreciate, and encourage diversity, [and] to display care and concern for community”. The Department of English, like the university as a whole, is committed to a “positive and productive learning and working environment.”

This environment is characterized by appreciation and encouragement of diversity and respect for the dignity of all persons: students, support staff, and faculty. The department will not tolerate unacceptable behaviour, such as threatening gestures, threatening or abusive verbal or written communication (including e-mails), or any conduct that “seriously disrupts the lawful education and related activities of students and/or university staff”. Any cases of such misconduct should be reported immediately to the department Head, who, depending on the nature and severity of the incident, may then take further appropriate action.
