Course Description

Introduction

Recent developments in Canadian cities have indicated a need for planners, architects, landscape architects and urban professionals who can offer innovative solutions for neighbourhood rebuilding in the context of sustainable urban growth management. The development patterns that shaped communities in the 19th century have been replaced by extensive suburbanisation, often accompanied by inner city decline and gentrification. As these changes have occurred, and continue to occur, our neighbourhoods have been reshaped to represent changing economic and social dynamics of local communities. What are the key features of neighbourhood change? Are new neighbourhoods that we build today better places to live? Are they inclusive, healthy and positively reflective of the values our plans and land use regulations intend them to be? How does the current pandemic reshape existing neighbourhood patterns? This course will provide both theoretical understanding and practical insights into these issues through assessment of neighbourhood change and community based planning responses in Canadian cities.

Objectives

Within this overall framework the objectives of the course are to:

- Provide an understanding of the social, economic and spatial aspects of neighbourhood change and their impact on the provision of affordable housing;

- Develop practical knowledge on indicators to measure neighbourhood change as well as planning policies to ensure sustainable and equitable transformation;
- Gain an understanding of the range of solutions for neighbourhood transformation in the context of public health and affordability concerns; and
- Conduct analysis and critical evaluation of planning policies designed to address a housing/neighbourhood problem using evidence-based research.

Teaching Approach

The course will incorporate lectures, independent field visits, independent research and project work. The individual field work needs to be aligned with COVID-19 public health protocols to complement other research methods analysing neighbourhood change in Calgary. Guest lectures by planners and developers will explore planning and design strategies for sustainable transformations of city centres, brownfield sites, and suburban communities. While the emphasis is on Canadian cities, other good practices from Europe will broaden students' knowledge and understanding of neighbourhood planning through social inclusion, neighbourhood mix and affordable housing strategies.

Content: Topic Areas

Lectures, seminars, online recordings and assignments will explore a wide range of topics central to neighbourhood planning and provision of sustainable housing. Some of these thematic clusters include:

- Housing Markets and Housing Policy Instruments
- Theoretical Perspectives on Neighbourhood Planning & Redevelopment
- Planning Sustainable Neighbourhoods: Retrofitting & Brownfield Strategies
- Green and Affordable Housing: Catalyst of Neighbourhood Change.

Throughout the course, students will have specific responsibilities related to the analysis and evaluation of different approaches/planning alternatives to manage neighbourhood change as well as to ensure socially appropriate planning strategies. Given the diversity of topics, the last assignment is a research project that allows students to explore issues relevant to their specific interests and professional practice but within a common framework of transition to affordable housing and sustainable neighbourhoods. The outcome of this project will provide a vital mechanism for the collective learning of the material, and for the development of a range of practical urban planning skills.

Course Hours: 3 units; (2-1 Tutorial)

Online Delivery

This course will take place online via Zoom and Desire2Learn (D2L). Students are required to participate in the asynchronous learning tasks using the D2L learning environment and synchronous Zoom sessions. If unable to participate live due to unforeseen circumstances, inform the instructor in advance to work out an alternative participation activity (e.g., watch the recordings, submit a brief reflection, and actively contribute to the follow-up online discussion).

Course Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, students will know and be able to:

1. Provide a comprehensive overview of major social, economic and spatial aspects of neighbourhood change and their impact on processes affecting the built environment;
2. Identify indicators to measure neighbourhood change as well as present time series data in a professional manner;
3. Develop an understanding of design and planning policies to ensure sustainable and equitable neighbourhood transformation;
4. Conduct analysis and critical evaluation of planning policies designed to address a housing/neighbourhood problem using evidence-based research;
5. Gain an understanding of the range of solutions for the provision of affordable and sustainable housing.

Additional Classroom Conduct and Related Information

Guidelines for Zoom Sessions in Online Classes

Students are expected to participate actively in all Zoom sessions and to turn on their webcam. Please join our class in a quiet space that will allow you to be fully present and engaged in the Zoom sessions. Students must behave in a professional manner during the session. Students, employees, and academic staff are also expected to demonstrate behaviour in class that promotes and maintains a positive and productive learning environment.

Assessment Components

Assessment Method	Description	Weight	Aligned Course Learning Outcome
Presentation & written component	Neighbourhood Profile	35%	1 and 2
Presentation	Tactical Transformations	10%	2,3
Research project poster/presentation	Sustainable Neighborhood	20%	3,4 and 5
Research project written component	Sustainable Neighborhood	20%	3,4 and 5
Class participation	Engagement in online classes, discussions & independent research/readings	15%	1,2,3,4,5

Assessment and Evaluation Information

Effective research, writing and presentation are major factors in the evaluation of student work. The course evaluation will be based on the assignments completed during the term, which includes written assignments, presentation of work, and team neighbourhood profile. Students must achieve a passing grade in all assignments to complete the course successfully. Students are expected to attend all online classes during the scheduled time. The first two hours of each session will normally be dedicated to synchronous lectures, while the last hour will be reserved for tutorials, group activity, independent reading of course material or viewing of video recordings.

Grades will be deducted for work submitted later than the deadline specified in the assignment. Students will receive a common grade for work done in pairs or groups, unless it is clear to the instructor that an unequal share of the work occurred. Effective engagement is also expected as a requirement for progress in planning and design, and is characterized by active involvement in online Zoom class discussions, team work, and effective presentation of research. Class participation will be evaluated on the basis of attendance of online sessions, engagement in class discussions, peer review tasks, brainstorming sessions and review of assigned readings.

Assignments should be submitted using D2L, and are due by 11:59pm on the day listed in the class assignments unless otherwise directed by the instructor. Quality of writing (spelling, grammar, clarity) or other forms of communication (visual, oral, etc.) will be a component of the assessment of all assignments. Writing skills are important to academic study across all disciplines and particularly important in professional planning. Writing quality is a factor in the evaluation of student work. Please refer to 'Writing Across the Curriculum' policy statement in the course calendar:

<http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/e-2.html>

A student who feels that a piece of graded term work (term paper, essay, etc.) has been unfairly graded may have the paper re-graded. The student shall discuss the work with the instructor within fifteen days of being notified about the mark or of the item's return to the class. More information can be found in the Graduate Calendar:

<http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/grad/current/gs-o.html>

There will be no final examination. Late penalty will be applied for assignments submitted after the due date.

Guidelines for Zoom Sessions

Zoom is a video conferencing program that will allow us to meet at specific times for a “live” video conference, so that we can have the opportunity to meet each other virtually and discuss relevant course topics as a learning community.

To help ensure Zoom sessions are private, do not share the Zoom link or password with others, or on any social media platforms. Zoom links and passwords are only intended for students registered in the course. Zoom recordings and materials presented in Zoom, including any teaching materials, must not be shared, distributed or published without the instructor’s permission.

The use of video conferencing programs relies on participants to act ethically, honestly and with integrity; and in accordance with the principles of fairness, good faith, and respect (as per the Code of Conduct). When entering Zoom video conferencing sessions, you play a role in helping create an effective, safe and respectful learning environment. Please be mindful of how your behaviour in these sessions may affect others. Participants are required to use names officially associated with their UCID (legal or preferred names listed in the Student Centre) when engaging in these activities. Instructors/moderators can remove those whose names do not appear on class rosters. Non-compliance may be investigated under relevant University of Calgary conduct policies (e.g Student Non-Academic Misconduct Policy). If participants have difficulties complying with this requirement, they should email the instructor of the class explaining why, so the instructor may consider whether to grant an exception, and on what terms. For more information on how to get the most out of your zoom sessions visit: <https://elearn.ucalgary.ca/guidelines-for-zoom/>

If you are unable to attend a Zoom session, please contact your instructor in advance to arrange an alternative activity for the missed session (e.g., to review the recorded session). Please be prepared, as best as you are able, to join class in a quiet space that will allow you to be fully present and engaged in Zoom sessions. Students will be advised by their instructor when they are expected to turn on their webcam (for group work, presentations, etc.).

The instructor may record online Zoom class sessions for the purposes of supporting student learning in this class – such as making the recording available for review of the session or for students who miss a session. Students will be advised before the instructor initiates a recording of a Zoom session. These recordings will be used to support student learning only and will not be shared or used for any other purpose.

Media and Recording in Learning Environments

University Calendar: <https://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/e-6.html>

Recording of lectures (other than audio recordings that are pre-arranged as part of an authorized accommodation) is not permitted.

For any other use, whether by duplication, transcription, publication, sale or transfer of recordings, written approval must be obtained from the instructor for the specific use proposed. Any use other than that described above constitutes academic misconduct and may result in suspension or expulsion.

The instructor may use media recordings to capture the delivery of a lecture. The instructor will notify all students and guests in the class that the event is being recorded. If a student or guest wants to take steps to protect privacy, and does not want to be recorded, the instructor will provide the individual (s) with an alternative means of participating and asking questions (e.g., passing written notes with questions). Any video-recording would be intended to only capture the instructor; students/other participants would not necessarily be visible on video recordings.
