History 307 is designed to give students a broad introduction to some of the main themes, ideas, and developments that have shaped the modern world – roughly since 1750 – and contributed to the rise of the phenomenon known as globalization. Material will be discussed within a global context and students should gain an appreciation of the process of transfer and adaptation to new ideas, inventions, and institutions between civilizations as well as the different responses to change. Topics covered by in-class lectures and readings include the rise and importance of nationalism, revolutionary movements, the evolution of the global economy, the transfer and exchange of ideas and information, the communications “revolution,” different approaches to governance, imperialism, decolonization, the emergence of non-governmental organizations, and the problems and perils of globalization.

Course objectives:

- Introduce students to the major themes, approaches, interpretations of World history
- Train students how to “think like a historian”
- Develop the student’s soft skills - research, writing, and analytical skills

Classroom Policies:

Students are expected to arrive in class prepared to learn and discuss material when appropriate. If you have a question about lecture material, or simply need to have a point clarified, please do not hesitate to ask.

- Please set all cell phones/wireless devices to manner mode when attending lectures.
- Demonstrate respect for your colleagues' learning environment by refraining from engaging in private conversations during lectures or using laptop/notebook computers for any other purpose than taking notes.
- If you must leave the class during the lecture for whatever reason, please do so quickly and quietly to minimize the distraction to other students.
- It is the student's responsibility to ensure that they know the date, time and location of the Registrar-scheduled final exam.

Sometimes absences from class are unavoidable. If such an absence happens to fall on the date of a scheduled quiz or assignment PLEASE NOTIFY ME AS SOON AS POSSIBLE VIA EMAIL to make alternate arrangements.

Written Assignment:

This class has a 2500-3000 word (10-12 pages not counting bibliography and endnotes/footnotes) written assignment on any subject covered by the time-period of this class. For most students, the assignment will assume the form of a traditional essay. In all cases topics for the paper must be approved by the instructor before the due date. This is done to help students identify an appropriate topic and also to identify useful materials.

Papers are expected to be typed and double-spaced using standard fonts and margins and should conform to the standards identified in the Department of History's Essay Writing Guide. The Essay Writing Guide can be purchased at the University of Calgary bookstore or a copy is available online at <http://hist.ucalgary.ca/sites/hist.ucalgary.ca/files/EssayHandbook1.pdf>

The essay will be graded according to the following rubric:

Organization:

- Does the assignment clearly articulate a thesis or a problem to be solved?
- Are ideas in the assignment clearly expressed and organized efficiently?
- Does the argument flow logically and coherently from one part to another?

Presentation:

- Is information presented appropriately?
- Is the presentation clear and concise?
- Do written elements require additional editing?

Quality of Research:

- Were enough sources consulted for the assignment?
- Are the sources appropriate for the topic?
- Does the assignment adhere to proper citation methods (i.e. footnote/endnote conventions)?
- Does the assignment provide a bibliography?

Originality/Quality of analysis:

- Does the assignment present a standard interpretation/narrative or does it strive to go beyond the basic facts to assess and analyze the material under consideration?
- Generally speaking, the better the analysis, the better the assignment.

General comment on sources for written assignments: When students submit a written assignment that calls for the use of external materials, bear in mind that it is expected that academic sources will be consulted. These include scholarly journal articles, books, and sources – not encyclopedia, survey textbooks, or notes from in-class lectures. As a 300-level history class students should also be aware that the expectation is that they will consult an appropriate number of sources. The minimum number of books I expect to see in your bibliography is 10; please note a general rule of thumb is that 3 journal articles count as 1 book.

Plagiarism:

Plagiarism occurs when one submits or presents one's work in a course, or ideas and/or passages in a written piece of work, as if it were one's own work done expressly for that particular course, when, in fact, it is not. As noted in The History Student's Handbook

(http://hist.ucalgary.ca/sites/hist.ucalgary.ca/files/history_students_handbook_2015.pdf), plagiarism may take several forms:

- Failure to cite sources properly may be considered plagiarism. This could include quotations, and wording used from another source but not acknowledged.
- Borrowed, purchased, and/or ghostwritten papers are considered plagiarism, as is submitting one's own work for more than one course without the permission of the instructor(s) involved.
- Extensive paraphrasing of one or a few sources is also considered plagiarism, even when notes are used, unless the essay is a critical analysis of those works.
- The use of notes does not justify the sustained presentation of another author's language and ideas as one's own.

Plagiarism is a serious academic offence and written work that appears to contain plagiarized passages will not be graded. All such work will be reported to the Faculty of Arts' associate deans of students who will apply the penalties specified in the University of Calgary Calendar.

Universal Student Ratings of Instruction (USRI):

At the University of Calgary, feedback provided by students through the Universal Student Ratings of Instruction survey provides valuable information to help with evaluating instruction, enhancing learning and teaching, and selecting courses (www.ucalgary.ca/usri). Your responses make a difference.

Please participate in USRI surveys.

Academic Accommodations (implemented July 1, 2015):

The student accommodation policy can be found at: ucalgary.ca/access/accommodations/policy.

Students needing an Accommodation because of a Disability or medical condition should communicate this need to Student Accessibility Services in accordance with the Procedure for Accommodations for Students with Disabilities ucalgary.ca/policies/files/policies/student-accommodation-policy.

Students needing an Accommodation based on a Protected Ground other than Disability, should communicate this need, preferably in writing, to the course instructor.
