Course Description

This course will examine the military history, primarily of the Western World, from the eighteenth century to the end of the Second World War, with some background context from the seventeenth century to set the stage for later developments. The course will focus on a number of thematic topics, including areas such as the relationship between war and politics, the social and cultural context of warfare, the role of technology, aspects of gender, the impact of propaganda, ideology, and regular and irregular forms of warfare.

Objectives of the Course

The goal of this course is to encourage students to think critically about military history in the past and apply those understandings to other aspects of historical understanding. Warfare can be seen as an integral part of the historical past and understanding its causes, courses, and consequences will be useful when considering other historical eras and topics.

Textbooks and Readings

Western Warfare: 1775-1882, Jeremy Black, Indiana University Press, 2001 (WW)

The Age of Total War: 1860-1945, Jeremy Black, Rowan and Littlefield, 2010 (ATW)

Internet and electronic communication device information

Please turn off cell phones and other non-educational devices and use your computers for only academically related purposes.

Assignments and Evaluation

The assignments in the course are designed to balance between written work and examinations. Assignments will build upon each other so that the skills developed in one assignment will be employed in the next. Students must NOT book holidays in the expectation of having an early examination. Accommodation for examinations and assignments will be made only for those in extreme and difficult circumstances. All assignments must be completed in order to pass the course.

Outline and Bibliography

Students will be asked to write an outline – with a thesis statement – of at least one page in length and, on a separate page, a bibliography of at least 10 sources (one of which must be a primary source). This assignment is designed to encourage students to begin the process of research for their term paper, but it is not a contract, as your topic may change.

Due: September 28

Value: 10%

Mid-term Examination

Mid-term examination will cover material discussed in the lectures and the readings. It will consist of single-word answers (more objective) and short-answer questions (more subjective).

Date: October 26

Value: 20%

Term Paper

Students will be asked to write a term paper on any subject relating to the course and the time period covered. This can follow the direction of the outline and bibliography but that is not required. Better essays will utilize primary documents and will demonstrate historical use of those documents. Length is to be 10-12 pages with standard margins, Times New Roman 12pt. font. Students should consult the History Department Essay Guide for help.

Due: November 30

Value: 40%

Final Examination

The final examination will build upon the elements in the midterm and it will include an essay component. Students will be able to concentrate on essay topics of their choice.

Date: Scheduled by the Registrar

Value: 30%

Registrar-scheduled Final Examination: Yes (Three Hours)

All assignments and exams must be completed or a course grade of F may be assigned at the discretion of the instructor.

Submission of Assignments: Please hand in your essays directly to your TA or instructor if possible in class. If it is not possible to do so, a daytime drop box is available outside the History Department office on the 6th Floor of the Social Science Building. Assignments will be removed the following morning, stamped with the previous day's date, and placed in the instructor's mailbox.

Please include your name and ID number on all assignments. Personal information is collected in accordance with the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy (FOIP) Act. For more information, see <http://www.ucalgary.ca/secretariat/privacy>

Note: It is the student's responsibility to keep a copy of each submitted assignment. For courses in which assignments are submitted electronically, it is the student's responsibility to ensure that the correct copy of the assignment is submitted. (Including the version date or version number in your file name may help you avoid submitting the wrong version of your written assignments.)

Policy for Late Assignments

Assignments submitted after the deadline may be penalized with the loss of a grade (e.g.: A- to B+) for each day late.

Schedule of Lectures and Readings

This schedule is a rough guide and might be altered to take into consideration student interest, time constraints or other unforeseen situations. You should note that lectures will supplement the readings and the readings will be necessary background to understand the lectures. I will not be reading the chapters for you in class. My suggestion is that you read the assigned reading for the week before class taking notes of important ideas, issues, people, and events; attend and take notes during lectures, and then re-read the assigned reading for the week. This way not only will you grasp the material more completely, it will be easier for you to study and attain the grade you desire.

Plagiarism:

Plagiarism occurs when one submits or presents one’s work in a course, or ideas and/or passages in a written piece of work, as if it were one’s own work done expressly for that particular course, when, in fact, it is not. As noted in The History Student’s Handbook (http://hist.ucalgary.ca/sites/hist.ucalgary.ca/files/history_students_handbook_2015.pdf), plagiarism may take several forms:

- Failure to cite sources properly may be considered plagiarism. This could include quotations, and wording used from another source but not acknowledged.
- Borrowed, purchased, and/or ghostwritten papers are considered plagiarism, as is submitting one's own work for more than one course without the permission of the instructor(s) involved.
- Extensive paraphrasing of one or a few sources is also considered plagiarism, even when notes are used, unless the essay is a critical analysis of those works.

- The use of notes does not justify the sustained presentation of another author's language and ideas as one's own.

Plagiarism is a serious academic offence and written work that appears to contain plagiarized passages will not be graded. All such work will be reported to the Faculty of Arts' associate deans of students who will apply the penalties specified in the University of Calgary Calendar.

Universal Student Ratings of Instruction (USRI):

At the University of Calgary, feedback provided by students through the Universal Student Ratings of Instruction survey provides valuable information to help with evaluating instruction, enhancing learning and teaching, and selecting courses (www.ucalgary.ca/usri). Your responses make a difference. Please participate in USRI surveys.

Academic Accommodations (implemented July 1, 2015):

The student accommodation policy can be found at: ucalgary.ca/access/accommodations/policy.

Students needing an Accommodation because of a Disability or medical condition should communicate this need to Student Accessibility Services in accordance with the Procedure for Accommodations for Students with Disabilities ucalgary.ca/policies/files/policies/student-accommodation-policy.

Students needing an Accommodation based on a Protected Ground other than Disability, should communicate this need, preferably in writing, to the course instructor.
