

HTST 485: The Second World War

Summer 2013
Saturday 0900-1430

Stuart White, Instructor

This course will examine the Second World War in Asia and Europe. Although the lectures will focus on strategic and operational accounts of the war, they will also discuss specific topics such as industrial mobilization, war crimes, and social change. Students will examine some primary documents, and be asked to contribute to discussions on particularly contentious topics in moderated class debates.

Required Texts:

Mawdsley, Evan. World War II.
Overy, Richard. Why the Allies Won.
Sledge, E.B. With the Old Breed.
