Course Description and Goals:

This course provides an introduction to Latin American Studies through an examination of Latin American popular culture. Multi-disciplinary approaches to topics as diverse and telenovelas and raegaetón will provide students with some of the tools for understanding the rich diversity of Latin America's peoples and places.

Students will gain an understanding of Latin American history, geography, politics, and society that prepares them for more advanced classes in the field of Latin American Studies. Students will develop their oral presentation skills, research skills, analytical abilities, and writing skills through book reviews and a final research project to be presented using the online platform Storify.

Required Readings:

Rubenstein, Anne. Bad Language, Naked Ladies, and Other Threats to the Nation: A Political History of Comic Books in Mexico. Durham: Duke University Press, 1998.

Fernandes, Sujatha. Close to the Edge: In Search of a Global Hip Hop Generation. New York: Verso, 2011.

Additional readings will be posted on d2l.

Course Grading:

| | |
|------------------------|-----|
| Participation | 10% |
| Book Reviews | 30% |
| Quizzes | 10% |
| Annotated Bibliography | 10% |
| Final Project | 40% |

Course Requirements:

Participation: Participation accounts for 10 percent of your final mark in this class. Your contribution to the discussion should be substantive and demonstrate a thorough familiarity with the works under consideration. Over the course of the semester, students will have the opportunity to participate in a variety of extra credit opportunities. By writing a one-page summary of an event and submitting it to the professor, students can earn bonus points toward their participation grades.

Book Reviews: There are two monographs assigned as required reading. Reviews of these works are due on the day that they are under discussion (September 27 and November 8, 2018). Reviews should be approximately 2-3 pages in length (800 words) and conform in matters of style to the guidelines outlined in the History Student's Handbook.

Quizzes: Students will complete weekly d2l quizzes to ensure that they have done the readings.

Final Project: In small groups, using the online platform Storify, students will research and present an investigation into a topic of their choosing. Students will choose a topic of contemporary importance in Latin America (e.g. violence against women, water rights, etc.) and incorporate into the project examples of how the issue is represented in popular culture (music, comics, telenovelas, etc.). Students must use scholarly sources (i.e. books, journal articles, etc.) in addition to internet sources. An annotated bibliography of academic sources will be due November 22, 2018. The final project can include hyperlinks, as well as a bibliography. It is due December 10, 2018.

Course Policies:

Please feel free to call or come to see me during my office hours. If you cannot come during the posted times, I would be happy to make an appointment for a mutually convenient meeting time.

Please feel free to e-mail me, but be aware that it may take up to 48 hours for me to respond.

Regular attendance at lectures is essential to students' successful completion of the course.

Students are welcome to use laptops and other electronic devices to take notes during lectures, but should refrain from surfing the internet and other behaviour that is disruptive to fellow students.

Late assignments that are not accompanied by a legitimate excuse such as a doctor's note will be penalised one third of a letter grade per day (e.g. From B + to B).

Students who anticipate difficulty meeting a deadline (for academic or personal reasons) should request an extension at least 48 hours before an assignment's due date.

Students will treat the instructor and fellow students with respect. Refrain from disruptive behaviour. Turn your cell phones off during lecture. Be punctual.

Plagiarism:

Plagiarism occurs when one submits or presents one's work in a course, or ideas and/or passages in a written piece of work, as if it were one's own work done expressly for that particular course, when, in fact, it is not. As noted in The History Student's Handbook

(http://hist.ucalgary.ca/sites/hist.ucalgary.ca/files/history_students_handbook_2015.pdf), plagiarism may take several forms:

- Failure to cite sources properly may be considered plagiarism. This could include quotations, and wording used from another source but not acknowledged.
- Borrowed, purchased, and/or ghostwritten papers are considered plagiarism, as is submitting one's own work for more than one course without the permission of the instructor(s) involved.
- Extensive paraphrasing of one or a few sources is also considered plagiarism, even when notes are used, unless the essay is a critical analysis of those works.
- The use of notes does not justify the sustained presentation of another author's language and ideas as one's own.

Plagiarism is a serious academic offence and written work that appears to contain plagiarized passages will not be graded. All such work will be reported to the Faculty of Arts' associate deans of students who will apply the penalties specified in the University of Calgary Calendar.

Universal Student Ratings of Instruction (USRI):

At the University of Calgary, feedback provided by students through the Universal Student Ratings of Instruction survey provides valuable information to help with evaluating instruction, enhancing learning and teaching, and selecting courses (www.ucalgary.ca/usri). Your responses make a difference. Please participate in USRI surveys.

Academic Accommodations (implemented July 1, 2015):

The student accommodation policy can be found at: ucalgary.ca/access/accommodations/policy.

Students needing an Accommodation because of a Disability or medical condition should communicate this need to Student Accessibility Services in accordance with the Procedure for Accommodations for Students with Disabilities ucalgary.ca/policies/files/policies/student-accommodation-policy.

Students needing an Accommodation based on a Protected Ground other than Disability, should communicate this need, preferably in writing, to the course instructor.
