Course Description

This course aims to simultaneously introduce moral philosophy and the way it can be applied to practical problems and professional disciplines taking business ethics as its example. By the end of the course, students should understand several prominent moral theories well enough to apply them to novel ethical problems that arise in the business world and beyond. The course will cover units on moral theory, specific ethical issues in business, and moral and philosophical issues surrounding money.

Evaluation

Participation:	5%
Weekly Questions:	10%
First Paper:	25%	Due: Wednesday, October 8th
Midterm:	25%	Friday, November 7th
Second Paper:	35%	Due: Friday, December 5th

This course has no Registrar administered final exam, only a final paper.

Writing and the grading thereof is a factor in the evaluation of your work for this course. For further explanation, see the University Calendar at

<http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/e-2.html>

The final grade will be based on the credit accumulated from the various assignments, so it is mathematically possible to pass the course without turning in any particular assignment. But this strategy is not recommended.

Participation:

I want you to be engaged with the material and the class, so I'm rewarding you for giving me evidence that you are. This evidence can come in many forms, such as attending and participating in the class and its discussions, visiting me in office hours to discuss course material, or sending me an email with a good idea or question when one comes to you.

Weekly Questions:

Each week, I'd like you to submit a question based on the reading for the day that you submit the question. The question you write should convince me that you've read the day's reading, at least well enough to be confused by it. I'm not kidding: confusion is a philosophical heuristic, it either helps you identify a place where you don't understand, or where the argument doesn't make sense. Either one of these counts as philosophical progress. These questions and their explanations need not be any longer than about half a page. (I'll post an example of what I mean to Blackboard.)

Here's how this works: For each week of the term, pick one day that week and write a question based on the reading assigned for that day. Then, submit a hard copy version of this question at the beginning of class where that reading will be discussed.

Weekly questions are only accepted when submitted in person at the beginning of each class, and only in hard copy. Barring extraordinary and documented serious emergencies, missed weekly questions cannot be made up.

There are 13 weeks in the semester (including this first one) but you only owe me 11 weekly questions for the term. It's entirely up to you which weeks you'd like to pass on. Extra weekly questions beyond this 11 will be read, but will not count for any extra credit.

Weekly questions can be hand written, but keeping an electronic file with your weekly questions can be helpful both for studying and for keeping track of how many you've turned in.

Midterms and Papers:

Will be in the form of philosophical essays written in response to topics I will distribute in advance of the days the papers are due or the midterms are given. Further instructions will be included when those topics are distributed.

Grading Method

All evaluated material will be graded on a scale from A+ to F. To weight assignments and calculate the final grade, these letter grades will be converted into the standard 4.0 scale:

4.3 - A+	3.3 - B+	2.3 - C+	1.3 - D+	0.0 - F
4.0 - A	3.0 - B	2.0 - C	1.0 - D
3.7 - A-	2.7 - B-	1.7 - C-

The arithmetic that will calculate your final grade will follow this formula:

$$\text{(Partic.)}.05 + \text{(W. Questions)}.10 + \text{(1st Paper)}.25 + \text{(Midterm)}.25 + \text{(2nd Paper)}.35 = \text{Final Grade}$$

Policy on Late Assignments

Weekly questions and the midterm exam are to be submitted in class and will not be accepted late or outside of class.

Late term papers are accepted, with a penalty of one full grade per 24-hour period late. So, an A- paper submitted between 24 and 48 hours after it was due would receive a C-. Once a paper is late, it should be submitted via email (to me at dgdick@ucalgary.ca) as soon as it is ready.

Academic Honesty

Cheating or plagiarism on any assignment or examination is regarded as an extremely serious academic offence, the penalty for which may be an F on the assignment, an F in the course, academic probation, or requirement to withdraw from the University. See the relevant sections on 'Academic Misconduct' in the current University Calendar. Intellectual honesty requires that your work include adequate referencing to sources. Plagiarism occurs when you do not acknowledge or correctly reference your sources. If you have questions about correct referencing, consult your instructor.

Academic Accommodation

It is the student's responsibility to request academic accommodation. If you are a student with a permanent disability or temporary impairment who may require academic accommodation, you must first register with the Student Accessibility Resource Office located in MacEwan Student Centre 452; phone 403-220-8237; email access@ucalgary.ca.
