PHIL 561.8

“Advanced Topics in Epistemology – Epistemology in the Internet Age”

Fall Term 2019

M 3:30-6:15 SS1253

COURSE OUTLINE

Instructor: Jeremy Fantl

Email: jfantl@ucalgary.ca

Office: SS 1238

Office Hours: M, 1-2

Office Phone: 403-220-5022

COURSE INFORMATION:

The great promise of the internet is that it provides easier communication of and exposure to a wide range of arguments, perspectives, interests, and information. It also seems to endanger that promise by encouraging group-think, echo chambers, filter bubbles, and belief polarization, as well as by allowing easier communication of so-called “fake news” and fringe or repugnant arguments that otherwise might never have gained a hearing or any respectability. In this class we will investigate these challenges and ask just how costly they are to our knowledge. If they are costly, what potential solutions might be adopted? Should we rely on individual responsibility to mitigate the difficulties? Are there regulative solutions that might have more promise? Or, in the end, are some of the challenges insurmountable, and the great promise of the internet ultimately unattainable in its full idealization?

PREREQUISITES:

Two previous courses in Philosophy at least one of which must be at the 400 level and one of which must be one of Philosophy 201, 395, 421, 423, 461, 463, 467, 481, or 483; or consent of the department.

COURSE OBJECTIVES/LEARNING OUTCOMES

This course will provide the opportunity to learn

- the outlines of current debate on the epistemological consequences of the internet.
- how to write an extended argumentative paper that takes adequate account of the other side
- how to develop a paper through a draft stage into polished form
- how to take constructive feedback on written work presented in a public setting
- how to engage in respectful dialogue with peers with whom you disagree
- how to present a project in a professional way in an interview setting

REQUIRED/RECOMMENDED TEXTS:

- Various philosophical articles, as indicated on the syllabus, below, available via public links or links through the University of Calgary library. Links are listed on D2L.

COURSE ASSESSMENT

- 4 précis (worth 30%) – detailed analyses of single arguments or passages in the assigned reading – of 1 (single-spaced) page max. Précis may be handed in only at the beginning of the class devoted to the relevant reading and you may hand in no more than one per week. Missing précis receive a zero. If it's clear you spent two minutes on it, the précis gets a C. Otherwise, all précis get an A.
- A Fake News project (worth 10%). This one is easy. Find one example of genuine news and one example of fake news. Print them out. Bring them to class on September 23rd, along with a list of characteristics that you think help distinguish fake news stories from real news stories. Missing projects receive a zero. If it's clear you spent two minutes on this, the project gets a C. Otherwise, all projects get an A.
- A 20 minute oral mock interview (worth 25%) outside of class. You will defend a “project,” as well as your knowledge of the material. Your interview will be held during the week beginning October 21st, at a mutually agreed upon time.
- A final term paper (worth 35%) of 10-15 pages. All term papers are preceded by a rough draft to be workshopped publicly in class (schedule to be determined). Drafts are due on Friday, November 8th. Final papers are due December 9th. Late papers are marked down 1/3 of a grade for each day late, up to 4 letter grades. Papers not turned in receive a zero. Late drafts reduce the grade of the final paper by 1/3 of a grade for each day late.

Letter Grades translate to numerical values according to the following scheme. Final Grades are computed by rounding to the nearest recognized letter grade.

A+: 98.33	B+: 88.33	C+: 78.33	D+: 68.33	F: 55
A+/A: 96.67	B+/B: 86.67	C+/C: 76.67	D+/D: 66.67
A: 95	B: 85	C: 75	D: 65
A/A-: 93.33	B/B-: 83.33	C/C-: 73.33	D/D-: 63.33
A-: 91.67	B-: 81.67	C-: 71.67	D-: 61.67
A-/B+: 90	B-/C+: 80	C-/D+: 70

Academic Accommodations

It is the student's responsibility to request academic accommodations according to the University policies and procedures. The student accommodation policy can be found at ucalgary.ca/access/accommodations/policy.

Students needing an Accommodation because of a disability or medical condition should communicate this need to Student Accessibility Services in accordance with the Procedure for Accommodations for Students with Disabilities: ucalgary.ca/policies/files/policies/procedure-for-accommodations-for-students-with-disabilities.pdf. Students needing an Accommodation in relation to their coursework or to fulfil requirements for a graduate degree, based on a protected ground other than disability, should communicate this need, preferably in writing, to their instructor.

Absence or Missed Course Assessments

Students who are absent from class assessments (tests, participation activities, or other assignments) should inform their instructors as soon as possible. Instructors may request that evidence in the form of documentation be provided. If the reason provided for the absence is acceptable, instructors may decide that any arrangements made can take forms other than make-up tests or assignments. For example, the weight of a missed grade may be added to another assignment or test. For information on possible forms of documentation, including statutory declarations, please see ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/m-1.html

Students are also encouraged to use Writing Support Services for assistance (one-on-one appointments, drop-in support and writing workshops). For more information, and other services offered by the Student Success Centre, please visit ucalgary.ca/ssc.

Academic Misconduct/Honesty

Cheating or plagiarism on any assignment or examination is as an extremely serious academic offense, the penalty for which will be an F on the assignment or an F in the course, and possibly a disciplinary sanction such as probation, suspension, or expulsion.
