Email: safaneh.mohagheghney@ucalgary.ca
Office Hours: By email

COURSE DELIVERY INFORMATION

The course is delivered asynchronously on Mondays and synchronously on Wednesdays.

Land Acknowledgement

The University of Calgary resides upon the traditional territories of the people of the Treaty 7 region in Southern Alberta, which includes the Blackfoot Confederacy (comprising the Siksika, Piikani, and Kainai First Nations), the Tsuut’ina First Nation, and the Stoney Nakoda (including the Chiniki, Bearspaw, and Wesley First Nations). The City of Calgary is also home to Métis Nation of Alberta, Region III. The University of Calgary is situated on land adjacent to where the Bow River meets the Elbow River; the traditional Blackfoot name of this place is “Moh’kins’tsis”, which we now call the City of Calgary.

ii’ taa’poh’to’p, the Blackfoot name of the University of Calgary’s Indigenous Strategy, was bestowed and transferred in ceremony by Kainai Elder Andy Black Water on June 21, 2017. The name signifies a place to rejuvenate and re-energize while on a journey. Traditionally, these places are recognized as safe, caring, restful – and offer renewed energy for an impending journey. In a traditional naming ceremony, transitioning into the new name is a journey of transformation towards self-actualization.

Course Information

Official course description provided here:

<https://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/womens-studies.html>

Course Description

This course focuses on political, theoretical and pragmatic dimensions of feminist consciousness in the Islamic world. First, we critically examine the orientalist representations of women in Muslim societies as repressed and yet sexualized, and how these representations contributed to the stereotype of Muslim women as being in need of liberation. Second, we seek insight from within Islamic societies by looking at the complex and interconnected relationship between these societies' feminist movements and their nationalist movements within the context of their broader political evolution.

Women's rights and roles have today gained a prominent place in the theological conversations and political debates that are taking place among the elite and clergy in regards to political and Islamic reform. The Islamic societies that we discuss as case studies (e.g., Algeria, Egypt, Iran, etc.) are diverse and geographically expansive in order to showcase both the unity and diversity within Islam and within feminist currents in those societies.

Prerequisite(s)

It is the student's obligation to ensure all pre-requisites are met or waived. Pre-requisites are provided in the calendar's course descriptions:

<https://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/womens-studies.html>

Course Learning Outcomes

Through lectures, class discussions, readings, and other material, this course aims to create an inviting and inquisitive learning space for all the participants.

The objectives of this course are:

- To become informed of the issues of orientalism scholarship regarding Islam in general, and women in Muslim societies in particular.
- To identify the theoretical frameworks that enable us to understand gender issues in Muslim societies covered in this class.
- To investigate the feminist movements in different Islamicate societies and learn about their historical context.
- To analyze complex and interconnected relationship between these societies' feminist movements and their nationalist movements within the context of their broader political evolution.

To arrive at these objectives, students are asked to think about the following questions while reading the texts required for each session:

- 1) Describe the text. What is the text about? What do we know about the author of the text and the historical backdrop of the text? For whom is the author writing?
- 2) What is the argument? What claims is the author making about Islam and about women? Does the author imply something?
- 3) What support does the author use in presenting their view? How does the author make their argument and what is their positionality?
- 4) What is your evaluation of the author's claims and arguments? Does the author convince you? Do you agree/disagree with their arguments and claims regarding Islam and women?
- 5) What is new for you in this reading? Do any of the author's claims, arguments, positions excite or disturb you? Does the reading influence/change/ contribute to your own position in any way?

WARNING: Religious texts discussed in this course are examined for their cultural significance and their influence in the societies and countries covered in this course, and not studied as sacred scripture. Discussion of issues pertaining to religion can be of sensitive nature for some, so we ask that all students maintain a respectful tone in class discussions. This class respects difference and diversity while welcoming thoughtful, critical debate and discussion.

Required/Recommended Texts (including electronic resources):

All texts are available online through the University of Calgary Library or on D2L. For more details check the course outline.

Participatory Classroom Philosophy

Women's Studies courses (WMST) operate according to a participatory classroom philosophy. Students will be expected to engage with each other and the instructor in a number of ways, both synchronous and asynchronous. No student will be placed in an inappropriate or risky situation, and all students are encouraged to bring their "braver space" intentions.

We recognize that these are extraordinary times, with additional stress upon everyone. Technology helps us stay connected but also adds different pressures and expectations – and new forms of etiquette. When in a synchronous online environment, we encourage students to turn on their video interface and follow communication guidelines laid out by the instructor (see section on Course Technology for further details). Asynchronous communication must be timely, detailed, and respectful. More details are provided below, including university regulations governing academic and non-academic misconduct.

Course Assessment and Evaluation

Grade Breakdown:

- 20% Discussion (2.5% for each discussion)
- 10% Participatory Classroom Assignment  $2 \times 5\% = 10\%$
- 10% Group evaluation/Synchronous class engagement
- 40% Tests  $2 \times 20\% = 40\%$
- 20% Final Take home Exam

Discussion:

This course is discussion heavy, which means that collaborating with your teammates on discussion days is essential.

Each discussion is worth 2.5% of your final mark, the question for discussions will be uploaded before hand and a member of your group should upload your answers by Friday before your next synchronous class.

- Members in discussion groups are picked randomly through D2L.
- There is a Group Discussion Rubric that is available on D2L. That is where you enter the weekly questions and your group's answers, and one member of the group submits that to the assigned folder on dropbox on behalf of all of you.

- There is a Discussion Rubric that is available on D2L. This rubric explains what is expected of you in your group discussions and the answers you provide to the questions.

Participatory Classroom Assignment

This component is 10 % of final grade and has two 2 parts, 1st one is due Jan 11, and second part is due March 31. You should submit them on D2L by 11:59 pm of the due dates. Considering that this is a participatory classroom, and that the success of a participatory classroom depends on each individual, this assignment will provide the chance for students to set out their intentions for the term, in terms of engagement, and adherence to the student guidelines/braver space guidelines, and then assess whether they met those expectations.

The first part of the assignment consist of roughly one double-spaced page, where students give short answers to a few questions (the question page is uploaded to D2L). In it, the student will set out their plan for their level of engagement, and adherence.

In the second part of the assignment, students will begin by assigning themselves a letter grade that they believe accurately reflects their attendance, adherence to student guidelines/braver space guidelines, and depth of learning. Remember: students are giving themselves a grade for the 5 percent of their mark that pertains to issues of engagement, as opposed to the grade they believe they deserve for the entire course. Students will assess how well they met the expectations they set out in the first part of the assignment, and explain their rationale for the grade. The student's assessment will be considered in light of the instructor's observations, and the instructor will have final say concerning the grade.

Group Evaluation/Synchronous Class Engagement

10% of your final mark depends on how your peers in the group discussions evaluate your contribution + how the instructor evaluates your performance.

The criteria for the instructor's evaluation include:

- Preparedness in having read assigned readings before class
- Quality of analysis and contribution when speaking or asking questions in synchronous class.

For peer-evaluations two rubrics are available on D2L:

- Group Member Assessment Reference Guide, which helps you improve your participation in group discussions + assessing your peers
- Group Member Assessment Sheet, which each individual fills out on their own and uploads to the assigned box on D2L no later than April 7, 11:59 pm.

Tests:

The two tests, each worth 20% of your final grade, are comprised of 5-10 written-answer type questions. The tests are available on the evaluation section of D2L. They are available from 14:00 on the day mentioned on the outline for 24 hours (to accommodate students from different time zones). Once you log in to a test you have 75 minutes to complete it.

The test are not cumulative, meaning your second test will not include questions from the readings you have already been tested on.

Final Take home exam:

20% the final take home exam will be uploaded at the end of the last class. The exam will be set up in such a way that students are able to provide the instructor with evidence of their ability to explain course material in their own words, illustrate the depths of their critical/holistic thinking skills, and show that they are able to make connections between our course readings, discussions, and important social issues of our day. The exam will be due at 11:59 p.m., on April 23, and must be submitted through the Dropbox of our D2L.

Important Assignment Submission Information:

- All assignments must be submitted through D2L.
- Emailing assignments are not accepted.
- You are responsible to solve any technological problems, you might have.
- Assignments MUST be submitted in Word or Pdf format.
- If you are citing a source in any of your submitted assignments, tests, or take home exams the citation should be in either APA or MLA format.

GRADING SYSTEM:

This course uses a combination of letter and number grades, according to the chart below. The university's Undergraduate Grading System is available here:
<https://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/f-1-1.html>.

In most cases where the final letter grade for the course is less than 1% from the next higher grade, the instructor will round-up. This course does not use a bell curve – whatever mark you get is it.

Percentage	Letter	Usually Graded	Point	Description
96 + %	A+	97	4.0	Outstanding

Policy for Synchronous Assessments and Absences

As per the University of Calgary Calendar G.1.1., a student who is absent from an in-person assessment in a course will receive a grade of zero on the assessment. This policy will remain the same for synchronous assessments scheduled to happen during a zoom meeting, such as a class presentation. If a student communicates with the instructor and explains the circumstances around the absence, the instructor may transfer the percentage weight for the assessment to another component of the course (such as the final examination), set another assessment, or make other alternative arrangements. An instructor will normally make this decision based on the information provided by the student. The instructor may ask for supporting documentation to confirm an absence. The decision to provide supporting documentation that best suits the situation is at the discretion of the student. Students cannot be required to provide specific supporting documentation, such as a medical note. For more information on Supporting Documentation, see <https://ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/m-1.html>

If you complete less than 30% of all assignments, you may receive a final grade of F. If you complete all assignments but receive more than two Fs, you may receive a final grade of F.

It is the student's responsibility to keep a copy of all assignments and to follow all instructions for completion and submission in case of loss by any cause.

WOMEN'S STUDIES PROGRAM COURSE POLICIES

Student Conduct

A Student Code of Conduct Agreement, available on D2L, is part of this course. It is a required component of the class (see "Engagement"). Expectations for online course engagement are detailed in D2L, which monitors student use.

Responsibility for fulfilling the requirements for all aspects of the course resides with the student. The instructor will not give out lecture notes, repeat information, nor provide replacement copies of material provided during regular class meetings.

Group work is a necessary component of a participatory classroom because it develops critical thinking and social skills. There will be a variety of assignments and engagement requirements that will demand your time and consideration of others.

Students must adhere to the Principles of Conduct, both Academic and Non-Academic, as outlined in the University of Calgary Calendar: ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/k.html

Course Technology

This course is offered as an online/remote version only. Students are responsible for their own technological equipment (hardware, software, and connectivity) and must feel confident using a variety of programs and portals. The instructor does not provide technical support. If you are experiencing any technical issues, you must go through ucalgary.ca/it. All work must be completed using the online technologies designated by the instructor. Failure to complete any assignments by the deadline and according to the instructions due to technological error on the student's part is not sufficient grounds for an extension or re-take, and may result in a grade of F (0).

Students are eligible for an Office 365 subscription with their U of C IT account/email with which they may install and activate the Microsoft Office program suite on up to 5 devices. They may download the Microsoft Office installation file by signing into their email online at <https://office365.ucalgary.ca> and selecting "Install Office Apps" from their main Office 365 portal page. Once the Microsoft Office suite is installed, they may activate the license by signing in with their @ucalgary.ca email.

A D2L portal has been set up for this course that allows for group correspondence, course announcements, class materials, assignment submissions and grading, and other forms of communication. Students are expected to check D2L a least once a week for any updates. D2L only uses @ucalgary email addresses.

Other platforms, portals, and programs may be required to complete course work. Students must have the capability to stream video.

Students must be able to edit files in Google Docs and Google Slides.

During synchronous meetings, we encourage students to turn on their video interface, and avoid distractions (including technologies and screens that are not relevant to the course) in order to facilitate group connections. At the same time, we are aware that there are circumstances that do not always make this possible. We trust students to make the right decision for themselves in keeping with the Braver Space Guidelines.

Student-Instructor Communication

Appropriate communication procedures are described in detail in the Student Code of Conduct Agreement. The instructor's preferred means of communication is first by scheduled office hours (Zoom), then by a pre-arranged meeting time (only if the professor's office hours conflict with another course), and then by email.

The instructor will endeavor to respond to emails within five business days of receiving the message. If the student emails a question that is fully addressed by the syllabus, Student Code of Conduct, or posted on D2L, the instructor will not reply. If you don't receive a response within five business days, it means you can find the answer yourself and are expected to do so.

The instructor may respond to your email query with the request that you meet online synchronously to discuss.

Please note, that the university's regular business hours are 8:30-4:30, Monday through Friday and excludes recognized holidays. See the Academic Schedule for more details: ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/academic-schedule.html

If you have concerns about a received grade, before contacting the instructor, you must do the following:

- Review all rubrics, assignment instructions, and supporting documentation
- Be prepared to answer why you received the grade you did based on the materials listed above

Unless it is an error of fact by the instructor (not one of analysis or assessment), your grade will not change, nor will you be granted additional work or a re-take. Emails demanding a re-assessment will go unanswered.

Braver Space Guidelines

“Braver Space” principles recognize that everyone brings different resiliencies and capacities to a group setting. We must all bring our personal bravery into the course space, and be mindful of what that means specifically to us. This does not mean sharing or participating in a way that violates personal boundaries (yours or another person's), nor cajoling others into participating in ways that are not conducive to their personal bravery. It means being respectful, self-aware, and mindful of the classroom dynamic and your place in it.

Respect difference and diversity while welcoming thoughtful, critical debate and discussion. No one person's right to their beliefs may supersede another person's right to security and dignity.

When in a course dedicated to social justice education, conflict will happen. That is part of a healthy, dynamic, questioning space of learning and discovery. You are encouraged to hold on to your own personal beliefs, but recognize that there will be differences of opinion and experience.

A university course holds high standards of research, evidence, and analytical proof. Students need to engage attentively, respectfully, and critically to the evidence provided in class lectures, readings, discussions, and other materials.

Some of the materials and topics may include explicit content (violence; sexuality; profanity; blasphemy; objectionable or illegal conduct). If you feel any materials may cause you distress or severe discomfort, you are encouraged to speak with the professor and/or to take measures to ensure that you feel braver in the course. You will not be exempt from any assigned work, but we will work together to accommodate your concerns.

Do not make assumptions about other people's identities and life experiences. That includes (but is not limited to) race, gender, sexuality, physical ability, mental and emotional well-being, spirituality or religiosity, age, citizenship status, and reproductive capabilities.

Recognize that language is a powerful tool in social justice education. It also changes as new issues and greater clarity develop. If you need to correct language use, do so respectfully; if you are corrected, accept that correction respectfully.

Becoming self-aware is a continual process, and everyone is at a different point on their personal journey. Individuals make mistakes. Our assumption in this course is that we are all moving forward with our best intentions. If someone says something that may be construed to be problematic, we will raise questions and/or concerns about the language, not about the person.

Make an effort to speak from the position of “I” (not the generalized “you” or “people”) and to clarify any statements you make, using verifiable evidence and experience. Making a sweeping judgment on a class or group of people is unacceptable.

Address people without assuming their gender. Some ways to do this:

- Don't refer to groups as guys, ladies, women, men, etc. Instead, use gender-neutral terms like “folks,” “all,” “everyone,” etc.
- Refer to individuals whose gender has not been disclosed to you in gender-neutral ways such as “the person who said...”

Address people using the gender pronouns they have indicated for themselves. Offer your gender pronouns to others to make it a braver space to talk about gender pronouns. Some gender pronouns include, but are not limited to:

- they/them/theirs
- she/her/hers
- ze/hir/hirs
- he/him/his
- ey/em/eirs

Similarly, if you are unsure about any aspect of a person's identity and how they would prefer to be addressed, ask respectfully. This can apply to Indigeneity, race or ethnicity, faith or spirituality, physical or mental ability, or other vectors of their identity. When speaking in more general terms, if you are corrected, accept the correction graciously. If you are questioned about your choice of general or self-identification, provide a succinct and respectful explanation.

Provide discrete and succinct content warnings if you will be talking about topics that may be traumatic for some and the content is not already apparent. Examples of such topics include abuse, violence, addiction, suicide, mental health, transphobia/homophobia/other forms of discriminatory behaviours. An example of wording could be, “Please note that there will be (x) content in my discussion.”

Respect your own and others' physical, mental, and emotional boundaries. Please speak up in a respectful way if you are uncomfortable, seek support if you want/need it, and engage in self-care as required, while still maintaining your commitment to the participatory classroom.

Review and adhere to guidelines for online communication in both synchronous and asynchronous settings as provided by the instructor.

DEPARTMENTAL, FACULTY, AND UNIVERSITY INFORMATION

Academic Accommodations

It is the student's responsibility to request academic accommodations according to the University policies and procedures. The student accommodation policy can be found at ucalgary.ca/access/accommodations/policy.

Students needing an Accommodation because of a disability or medical condition should communicate this need to Student Accessibility Services in accordance with the Procedure for Accommodations for Students with Disabilities:

ucalgary.ca/policies/files/policies/procedure-for-accommodations-for-students-with-disabilities.pdf. Students needing an Accommodation in relation to their coursework or to fulfil requirements for a graduate degree, based on a protected ground other than disability, should communicate this need, preferably in writing, to their instructor.

Time limit and extended deadline accommodations can be set by D2L. Therefore it is imperative that students provide instructors with the appropriate documentation at the beginning of term.

Absence or Missed Course Assessments

Students who are absent from class assessments (tests, participation activities, or other assignments) should inform their instructors as soon as possible. Instructors may request that evidence in the form of documentation be provided. If the reason provided for the absence is acceptable, instructors may decide that any arrangements made can take forms other than make-up tests or assignments. For information on possible forms of documentation, including statutory declarations, please see ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/n-1.html

Writing Assessment and Support

The assessment of all written assignments—and, to a lesser extent, written exam responses—is based in part on writing skills. This includes correctness (grammar, punctuation, sentence structure, etc.), as well as general clarity and organization. Research papers must include a thorough and accurate citation of sources. Students are also encouraged to use Writing Support Services for assistance. For more information, and other services offered by the Student Success Centre, please visit ucalgary.ca/ssc.

Responsible Use of D2L

Important information and communication about this course will be posted on D2L (Desire2Learn), UCalgary's online learning management system. Visit ucalgary.service-now.com/it for how-to information and technical assistance.

All users of D2L are bound by the guidelines on the responsible use of D2L posted here: <https://elearn.ucalgary.ca/commitment-to-the-responsible-use-of-d2l/>.

The instructor may establish additional specific course policies for D2L, Zoom, and any other technologies used to support remote learning. Instructional materials, including audio or video recordings of lectures, may not be posted outside of the course D2L site. Students violating this policy are subject to discipline under the University of Calgary's Non-Academic Misconduct policy.

Academic Misconduct/Honesty

Cheating or plagiarism on any assignment or examination is as an extremely serious academic offense, the penalty for which will be an F on the assignment or an F in the course, and possibly a disciplinary sanction such as probation, suspension, or expulsion. For information on academic misconduct and its consequences, please see the University of Calgary Calendar at ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/k.html.
