DESCRIPTION

Ce cours comporte deux volets principaux. D'une part, nous étudierons quatre temps forts de l'histoire de la prose narrative française du XIX^e siècle : un examen détaillé de la nouvelle Sarrasine, d'Honoré de Balzac, nous permettra, dans un premier temps, d'examiner les enjeux du romantisme romanesque tout en nous initiant aux fondements théoriques qui façonnèrent la tradition réaliste moderne ; une étude du roman Madame Bovary, de Gustave Flaubert, et de la nouvelle Boule de suif, de Guy de Maupassant, nous permettra d'explorer ensuite les enjeux du mouvement réaliste qui consacra le genre romanesque puisque, pour la première fois, des romanciers (et non des poètes ou des dramaturges) s'unissaient pour défendre une esthétique littéraire et faire école ; enfin, une lecture du roman Germinal, d'Émile Zola, nous permettra d'interroger les principes du mouvement naturaliste. D'autre part, parallèlement à la lecture de ces quatre classiques, nous réviserons, étudierons et mettrons en pratique les principes de base d'un exercice fondamental : l'analyse littéraire.

ACADEMIC MISCONDUCT

1. Plagiarism is a serious offence, the penalty for which is an F on the assignment and possibly also an F in the course, academic probation, or requirement to withdraw. Plagiarism exists when:

a) the work submitted or presented was done, in whole or in part, by an individual other than the one submitting or presenting the work (this includes having another impersonate the student or otherwise substituting the work of another for one's own in an examination or test);

b) parts of the work are taken from another source without reference to the original author;

c) the whole work (e.g., an essay) is copied from another source, and/or

d) a student submits or presents work in one course which has also been submitted in another course (although it may be completely original with that student) without the knowledge of or prior agreement of the instructor involved.

While it is recognized that scholarly work often involves reference to the ideas, data and conclusions of other scholars, intellectual honesty requires that such references be explicitly and clearly noted." Plagiarism occurs not only when direct quotations are taken from a source without specific acknowledgement but also when original ideas or data from the source are not acknowledged. A bibliography is insufficient to establish which portions of the student's work are taken from external sources; footnotes or other recognized forms of citation must be used for this purpose.

2. Cheating at tests or examinations includes but is not limited to dishonest or attempted dishonest conduct such as speaking to other candidates or communicating with them under any circumstances whatsoever; bringing into the examination room any textbook, notebook, memorandum, other written material or mechanical or electronic device not authorized by the examiner; writing an examination or part of it, or consulting any person or materials outside the confines of the examination room without permission to do so, or leaving answer papers exposed to view, or persistent attempts to read other students' examination papers.

4. Any student who voluntarily and consciously aids another student in the commission of one of these offences is also guilty of academic misconduct.
