Lectures (required)

Lectures elaborate on topics in the text as well as introduce new information not covered in the textbook. Students are responsible for all the material discussed in lectures. Frequent absences will make it difficult to succeed in this course.

Quizzes will be taken in the class from 12:35 for 15 or 20 minutes. Please don't be late. There will be no extra time given in case you are late.

Research participation/critical thinking

Students are required to participate as subjects in linguistic research projects, when possible. If no research projects are available or applicable, then students are required to submit critical thinking assignments (worth 2% each; Feb 28 and Apr 11). A combination of research participation and a critical thinking submission is also possible. (More details will be posted later).

Midterm tests (2)

The Midterm test will be held on February 14 (Thursday), and March 19 (Tuesday) during the regular class hour (12:30-1:45). It is cumulative. You must bring your student ID card to the midterm test. An unexcused absence from the test (see below) will result in a mark of zero for that component.

Missed test or class quizzes

If you miss the midterms or class quizzes for a valid reason (illness, birth, family affliction, marriage etc.), you must submit an official documentation (e.g., doctor's note).

There will be no make-up test or quizzes. At the instructor's discretion, students who miss them for a valid reason (as indicated above) have the weighting normally assigned to them transferred to the final examination.

Email policy

You must use your university email account when sending us email. When you send us email, please include "LING 203" in the subject line and include your full name and student number in the body. We will not accept assignments submitted as email attachment or by fax.

FREEDOM OF INFORMATION AND PRIVACY ACT (FOIP)

The Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act was enacted by the Alberta Legislature on June 1, 1994. The Act is intended first of all to allow any person the right of access to the records in the custody and under the control of a public body although this right is subject to limited and specific exceptions. The Act also includes a strong right to privacy component, allowing individuals to control the manner in which a public body collects personal information, to control the use that a public body may make of the information, and to control the disclosure of that information by a public body. It also allows individuals the right of access to personal information about themselves held by a public body and the right to request corrections to that information.

For more information on FOIP, please visit the website <http://www.ucalgary.ca/legalservices/foip/>, or contact Jo-Anne Munn Gafuik at 403-220-3602 or by email munnngafu@ucalgary.ca

PLAGIARISM AND ACADEMIC MISCONDUCT

Plagiarism involves submitting or presenting work in a course as if it were the student's own work done expressly for that particular course, when, in fact, it is not. Most commonly plagiarism exists when:

1. the work submitted or presented was done, in whole or in part, by an individual other than the one submitting or presenting the work (this includes having another impersonate the student or otherwise substituting the work of another for one's own in an examination or test);
2. parts of the work are taken from another source without reference to the original author,;
3. the whole work (e.g. an essay) is copied from another source; and/or
4. a student submits or presents work in one course which has also been submitted in another course (although it may be completely original with that student) without the knowledge of or prior agreement of the instructor involved.

While it is recognized that scholarly work often involves reference to the ideas, data and conclusions of other scholars, intellectual honesty requires that such references be explicitly and clearly noted. Students are often encouraged to work together in preparing homework assignments, but check with your instructor beforehand. However, unless noted otherwise in writing, students must write up their own answers for submission of the assignment. Failure to do so constitutes plagiarism. Plagiarism is an extremely serious academic offence. Possible penalties for plagiarism include: failing the assignment, failing the course, disciplinary probation, suspension, or expulsion. Any student who voluntarily and consciously aids another student in the commission of plagiarism is also guilty of academic misconduct.

For more information on academic misconduct and related UofC regulations please consult the Student Misconduct web pages in the on-line University Calendar: <http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/k.html>.

EMERGENCY EVACUATION AND ASSEMBLY POINTS

The University of Calgary is committed to creating a safe and healthy living and learning environment. The health and safety of our employees, students and the general public are the highest priority of the University of Calgary's Emergency Management Program. Assembly points are also designed to establish a location for information updates:

- from the emergency responders to the evacuees; and
- from the evacuated population to the emergency responders.
