DESCRIPTION

This course is an introduction to the internal and external history of the English language, beginning with its origins in the IndoEuropean family, tracing developments in phonology, morphology, syntax, and lexicon through Germanic, Old English, Middle English and on to the present day. Students will acquire basic knowledge of these developments, learn how to apply and expand this knowledge in working with contemporary text material, learn how to work with secondary sources (grammars and dictionaries) in analyzing texts, and will acquire understanding of how language changes and how language standardization and external factors can affect the path of development.

Prerequisites: The prerequisite for this course is Linguistics 201 or equivalent.
A student may not register in any linguistics course unless a grade of at least C- has been attained in all prerequisites for that course.

COURSE NOTES

Deadlines and Absences:

Tests: There is no possibility of a make-up midterm test. At the instructor's discretion, students who miss the test may have the weighting normally assigned to the midterm transferred to the final examination if they produce a valid excuse supported by appropriate documentation. Valid excuses are illness, marriage, childbirth, and domestic affliction. Unexcused absence will result in a mark of zero.

Assignments: All assignments are to be handed in on the designated due date (by 4 pm unless otherwise stated). Late assignments will not be accepted without valid excuse as above. Late assignments will not be accepted after the class handback; alternate arrangements will be made at the instructor's discretion.

ACADEMIC MISCONDUCT

1. Plagiarism is a serious offence, the penalty for which is an F on the assignment and possibly also an F in the course, academic probation, or requirement to withdraw. Plagiarism exists when:
a) the work submitted or presented was done, in whole or in part, by an individual other than the one submitting or presenting the work (this includes having another impersonate the student or otherwise substituting the work of another for one's own in an examination or test);
b) parts of the work are taken from another source without reference to the original author;
c) the whole work (e.g., an essay) is copied from another source, and/or
d) a student submits or presents work in one course which has also been submitted in another course (although it may be completely original with that student) without the knowledge of or prior agreement of the instructor involved.

While it is recognized that scholarly work often involves reference to the ideas, data and conclusions of other scholars, intellectual honesty requires that such references be explicitly and clearly noted."

Plagiarism occurs not only when direct quotations are taken from a source without specific acknowledgement but also when original ideas or data from the source are not acknowledged. A bibliography is insufficient to establish which portions of the student's work are taken from external sources; footnotes or other recognized forms of citation must be used for this purpose.

2. Cheating at tests or examinations includes but is not limited to dishonest or attempted dishonest conduct such as speaking to other candidates or communicating with them under any circumstances whatsoever; bringing into the examination room any textbook, notebook, memorandum, other written material or mechanical or electronic device not authorized by the examiner; writing an examination or part of it, or consulting any person or materials outside the confines of the examination room without permission to do so, or leaving answer papers exposed to view, or persistent attempts to read other students' examination papers.

3. Other academic misconduct includes, but is not limited to, tampering or attempts to tamper with

Faculty of Arts
School of Languages, Linguistics, Literatures and Cultures

examination scripts, class work, grades and/or class records; failure to abide by directions by an instructor regarding the individuality of work handed in; the acquisition, attempted acquisition, possession, and/or distribution of examination materials or information not authorized by the instructor; the impersonation of another student in an examination or other class assignment; the falsification or fabrication of clinical or laboratory reports; the non-authorized tape recording of lectures.

4. Any student who voluntarily and consciously aids another student in the commission of one of these offences is also guilty of academic misconduct.

DISABILITIES AND ACADEMIC ACCOMMODATION

Students seeking an accommodation based on disability or medical concerns should contact Student Accessibility Services office at 403-210-6019 or access@ucalgary.ca; SAS will process the request and issue letters of accommodation to instructors. WRITING ACROSS THE CURRICULUM

Writing skills should cross all disciplines. Students are expected to do a substantial amount of writing in their courses and, where appropriate, instructors can and should use writing and the grading thereof as a factor in the evaluation of student work. The services provided by the Writing Centre in the Effective Writing Office (<http://www.efwr.ucalgary.ca/>) can be utilized by all undergraduate and graduate students who feel they require further assistance.
